RICH IN GOODS, POOR IN HEALTH, MAN KILLS SELF

Henry A. Mueller, Coal Contractor, Shoots Himself at Green Tree Brewery.

SUFFERED FROM CANCER

For 15 Years Had Furnished All the Coal Used at the Brewery.

HE SEEMED CHEERFUL

Went Into Grain Drying Department and Lay Down on Sacks to Kill Self.

Henry A. Mueller of 107 Trudeau street, a coal contractor widely known in South St. Louis, shot himself in the right temple at 11:15 a. m. Thursday in the Green Tree Brewery at Ninth and Sidney streets. He was 71 years old, and had been a sufferer for months from cancer of the throat, said by his physicians to be incurable. He was taken to the City Hospital and died at 2:15 p. m.

Mueller had, for 15 years, supplied the coal at the brewery, and he was a daily visitor there until the condition of his throat prevented. For a week preceding Thursday he had not been seen about the yards or offices, and it was understood that he was under treatment in a hospital.

When Mueller appeared at the brewery Thursday he was greeted by the employes, all of whom knew him, and responded cheerfully. He went after a time into the grain drying department, which was unoccupied.

August Bolm, superintendent of stables at the brewery, passing through this department a short time later, found Mueller lying across a pile of sacks, unconscious. The revolver lay beside him and the wound in his right temple was in plain view.

An ambulance was called and the wounded man was taken with all expedition to the City Hospital. He did not recover consciousness, and when he was placed on the operating table it was said by the physicians in attendance that the chances were against his leaving it alive.

Mueller's home was in the same block on Trudeau street with Henry Miller, also a coal dealer. Neighbors, to avoid confusion in speaking of them, spoke of Mueller as "Little Henry Mueller," and Miller as "Little Henry Miller."

A frightened employe at the brewery lost his head after Mueller was found, and turned in a riot call to the police. A squad responded, but returned to the station when it was learned what had happened.

WOMAN BESTS A THIEF.

Chases Negro, Snatches Stolen Papers, Then Frees Him.

Mrs. Clara Elhart of 105 North Ewing avenue pursued through an alley a negro who darted out of her home as she entered it Wednesday evening, and, capturing him, wrested from him a tin box he had taken from the house. The box contained papers of value to no one but herself.

Satisfied, she released the negro at the Garrison avenue corner, and returned home. She found there that two handkerchiefs had also been taken. This loss she reported to the police Thursday.

ROADS PAID NOTHING FOR THE TERMINAL

Julius S. Walsh Testifies They Were Reimbursed by Bond Issue for Their Expense.

MORGAN FINANCED DEAL

CAPITAL INCREASED

Raised to $50,000,000 Which Railroads Took and Then Bonds Were Issued.

Julius S. Walsh, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Termin. Railroad Association, admitted on the stand Wednesday in the Federal suit to smash the Terminal combine that the railroads in the Terminal had not paid a dollar for the stock that the companies own in the association.

This statement was made before Commissioner Rombauer. Walsh said that the railroads had been reimbursed for every dollar paid for the Terminal properties, including Wiggins Ferry and the Cologne road. The reimbursement was made from the proceeds of the sale of mortgage bonds when the capital was increased to $50,000,000 in 1902.

E. C. Crow, counsel for the Government in its suit, considers the testimony of Walsh vital in the successful prosecution of the suit.

Mr. Walsh testified that there were eight roads in the Terminal Association in the early part of 1902, when the Terminal acquired control of the majority of the stock of the Wiggins Ferry Co. The railroads were the Wabash, Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain, Louisville & Nashville, Big Four, Vandalia, Frisco and Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern.

He said that he personally visited the head officials of the other six roads then out, but now in the Terminal, and asked them to join the association. He said that great inducements had been made to the outstanding roads by agreeing to let them in without the expenditure of a $1 on their part. They were to merely assume with the other members the outstanding securities of the Terminal Association and protect the future revenue, and were to be on perfect equality with the original lines in the association.

He said that after the other railroads had agreed to come in, that the capital stock was increased from $12,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Of the amount to be sold, the Terminal members were to retain $17,500,000. That amount was also sold, some of it going to J. P. Morgan & Co. for $90 to $96. Out of the proceeds of sale of the stock, $7,500,000 which was paid for the Wiggins Ferry was returned to the different railroad corporations in the association in proportion to the amount they had been taxed for the purchase of the Ferry company. He said that $12,000,000 had been paid for the old Cologne road on the East Side and this amount was also returned to the railroads from the proceeds of the sale of the stock.

P. L. Du Bois, auditor of the Consolidated Coal Co., the only witness before Judge Rombauer in the Terminal suit hearing Thursday, told about the Southern Railroad giving rebates to the Muren Coal Co., now a part of the Southern Coal Co.

He said that the Muren Coal Co. shipped coal from the same points in Illinois to St. Louis as the Consolidated Coal Co. and over the same road, the Southern. Du Bois said that the same rates were made to both companies, but the Southern Railroad reimbursed the Muren Coal Co. by allowing rebates to it.

When asked to specify dates in his charges, Du Bois asked the Court to allow him time to get the exact dates from the records, as he could not tell them correctly without referring to his books.

The hearing was then continued until Friday at 10 a. m. in Judge Rombauer's office in the Roe Building. The Southern Coal Co. is operated by W. K. Kavanaugh and others and the Consolidated Coal Co. is said to be controlled by the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

WANTS OWNERS ARRESTED.

Judge Pollard Lenient With Driver of Lame Horse.

After promising leniency toward Henry Schmahlfeldt, aged 20, who was fined $20 for driving a lame horse, Judge Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Court was astonished by the announcement that the defendant's employer, Henry Meisch of 2776 Prairie avenue, intended to appeal the case to the Court of Criminal Correction.

Judge Pollard had already told Schmahlfeldt that he had the Court's sympathy, and that if he remained until after adjournment "something would be done for him." Without waiting to see what form Judge Pollard's clemency would take, Meisch went to the clerk and gave bond for an appeal.

Schmahlfeldt was arrested by Humane Officer Nugent at 8300 North Broadway. The horse which the young man was driving had a sore on the left foreleg.

When Judge Pollard had heard the evidence, he said:

"I am sorry that this charge was not lodged against the owner of the animal. I should like to have him before me."

MORE BAILEY ACCUSATIONS.

Senator Alleged to Have Helped Live Stock Men.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 24.—The Bailey investigating Committee of the Legislature has considered new charges against Senator Bailey preferred by Representative Cocke. These declare that Bailey, while holding his office as Senator, obtained the settlement of claims for persons interested in the live stock market, and has obtained Government concessions for private interests for lands in the Indian Territory. The new charges will be filed with the others.

HOUSE PASSES LOBBY BILL BY VOTE OF 125-0

Many Republicans Absent During Roll Call on Hughes Measure.

HILL'S VOTE IN FAVOR

Bill, Which Requires Agents to Register, Has Emergency Clause.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—The anti-lobby bill requiring legislative lobbyists to register with the Secretary of State and requiring the filing of expense accounts showing money expended in promoting legislation and the purposes of expenditure, passed the House today by a vote of 125 to 0. Many Republicans were absent during the roll-call.

The bill was promptly reported to the Senate after its passage and was read in the upper branch for the first time. This bill, a substitute measure presented by Hughes of Callaway in place of his original measure, which was advocated by Gov. Folk. The bill which has now passed is modeled after the New York law.

The original bill prohibited legislative agents from even talking with members of the General Assembly on any bill. The announced opposition of many members to this bill was that it restricted the right of free speech, though many objected to any anti-lobby legislation on the ground that they needed no law to protect them from being corrupted.

The Governor and his supporters, seeing a strong opposition to the original bill, amended it to meet the requirements, and many who really opposed any anti-lobby legislation voted for it as a compromise. Many Republicans left the chamber when the voting began. They did not want to vote for the Governor's bill, neither did they want to go on record as opposed to anti-lobby legislation. Hill, the minority leader, who was the only Republican to oppose the bill in debate, voted for it. The bill carries an emergency clause and will become operative as soon as passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.

SHORT SESSION OF SENATE.

Quorum Not Present, Illinois Body Adjourns in 10 Minutes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 24.—Today's session of the Senate lasted 10 minutes, there being less than half the full membership present. Nevertheless rules of the Senate, the adoption of which President Sherman objected to yesterday, because he had not had time to read them, were adopted by the senators present.

The Senate bill for the election of a Superior Court judge of Cook County at the April session, instead of in November, which is on third reading, was about to be taken up when the lack of a quorum was noticed. Action was consequently deferred. Seven bills were introduced as was a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment to procure changes in the revenue law desired by the Civic Federation of Chicago.

The Senate then concurred in the house joint resolution for an adjournment until next Tuesday.

BLINDFOLD HORSE BLOCKS RAILROAD

Leg Fast in Trestle Two Men Rode Animal Onto Near Belleville.

TRAINS HELD 45 MINUTES

Telephone Message Warned Railroad Men and Prevented a Wreck.

A blindfolded horse with his feet sticking between the ties of a railroad trestle near Belleville Thursday, stopped traffic on the Southern Railway and delayed four trains for 45 minutes. But for a telephone message from someone whose identity is not known, there might have been a disastrous wreck. A westbound passenger train was flagged just in time to prevent it from running onto the trestle.

John Hamor and Frank Barthels are held prisoners by the police. Both live at Shiloh, Ill., six miles northeast of Belleville.

Hamor rode into Belleville on the horse Wednesday night. He is six feet tall and his tamed, unfiery steed was little larger than a pony. The horse and its rider afforded diversion for Belleville residents far into the night.

Thursday, in the cold, gray dawn of the morning after, Hamor started home to Shiloh. As he reached the outskirts of Belleville he met his friend Barthels.

"Jump on," said he. Barthels was in a humor to accept the invitation. After a short halt the little horse jogged on carrying a double burden.

They rode along the Louisville & Nashville tracks for half a mile until they came to a long trestle, which the horse refused to cross.

Threw Both Riders.

The tracks here run on a 30-foot embankment across the tracks of the Southern Railway.

Unable to force the horse over the trestle, his riders urged him to clamber down the embankment. He slid to the bottom of the embankment and landed on the Southern tracks, which lead direct to Shiloh.

The horse proceeded along the tracks until he came to another trestle, 50 feet long and 25 feet above Richland Creek. Here he balked again and when his riders tried to hurry him he bucked and threw them both off.

They hit upon a scheme. Knotting their handkerchiefs together they made a blindfold, which they tied over the horse's eyes, so that he would not see the trestle.

Then they mounted again and Hamor said, "Giddap."

The horse took the trestle all right and picked his way across the ties for 20 feet before he slipped and fell. He didn't stop falling until his body hit the trestle. The jolt threw both riders off, but they clung to the ties and escaped a ducking in the creek.

Just as the horse fell a long, shrill whistle sounded. A fast freight train was coming from the west, half a mile away. Then there was another whistle. A passenger train was coming from the east.

Ordinarily the through freight does not stop at the Belleville station. It would not have stopped Thursday had not someone called the operator on the telephone and told him of the horse and its riders, who were on their way down the track.

The red semaphore signal was thrown out for the freight and a man was sent across the trestle to flag the passenger. Policeman Corwin hurried to the trestle. He found Hamor standing near his steed, saying:

"Giddap, horsey, giddap."

Barthels was out of sight. Policeman Klamm found him in bed with his clothes on at the home of John Enders near the railroad track. Barthels did not know Enders, but there was no one at home except two children and the bed looked good to him.

While efforts were made to extricate the horse, two other freight trains were flagged near the trestle.

Workmen from a pumping station took boards to the trestle and pried the horse loose. Then they made a skid of the boards and slid him off much the same as they would handle a barrel.

The animal was not much the worse for its experience. The gallant riders slept and forgot their troubles in the Belleville Police Station. The red semaphore was dropped and traffic on a great railroad was resumed.

MRS. JOHN S. FEE SUES FOR DIVORCE

She Charges Desertion, Extravagance, Non-Support and "Riotous Living."

Mrs. Dorothea Irwin Fee filed suit in the Circuit Court Thursday for a divorce from John S. Fee, alleging desertion, extravagance, nonsupport and "riotous living." Her petition says that they were married Sept. 19, 1900, and separated Dec. 5, 1905.

She alleges that he never contributed to her support. Mrs. Fee says that her husband now has a salary of $100 a month. She asks for alimony and the restoration of her maiden name, Irwin.

John S. Fee until his separation from his wife and his escapade with an actress, Beatrice Brevaine, was president of the Fee-Davis Coal Co. of St. Louis. He is said to be in New York.

On Dec. 5, 1905, Mrs. Fee, who was then living at the Usona Hotel, applied for a warrant charging her husband with wife abandonment. The same day Fee and Beatrice Brevaine, who had formerly been one of the fencing girls in Anna Held's production, "The French Maid," suddenly left the West End Hotel, where they had occupied adjoining rooms.

They went to East St. Louis and remained there two days at a hotel, after which they came to St. Louis and lived at the Hotel Milton.

Beatrice Brevaine was the wife of Emil Dreyfus, a wealthy lace importer. Dreyfus filed suit for a divorce soon after the couple went East and named Fee in his petition. Depositions in connection with the case were taken in St. Louis. At the trial Fee said that he did not know Beatrice was a married woman. A suit for $50,000 for alienation of affections was also filed against Fee by Dreyfus.

JUST A DOZEN NEWLYWEDS.

Planters Guests Take Great Interest in Them.

Six pairs of newlyweds seated in the cafe of the Planters Hotel Thursday for breakfast were objects of special interest.

One of the bridegrooms was F. Dawson Howe of New York, who was married to Miss Roberta Keith of 2415 Independence avenue, Kansas City, at her home Wednesday.

After their marriage they accompanied Rev. S. M. Neel to the home of R. A. Barr at 3038 Troost avenue and witnessed the wedding of Miss Aletha Barr and W. C. Taft.

Mr. Taft is a relative of Secretary Taft.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Franz of Springfield Ill. are on their way to Cuba to spend their honeymoon. They were married in Springfield Wednesday.

A Mississippi bridegroom and bride are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Allef of Macon. They were married Wednesday at Columbus, Miss. The bride was Miss Sallie Foote, daughter of Capt. H. D. Foote, a planter.

The other new married couples are Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Patterson of Kansas City and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Warren of Herrin, Ill. The latter pair departed from the hotel early in the day.

FREIGHT CARS BLOCK TRAFFIC

Passengers riding Thursday morning on the Cherokee and Tower Grove divisions of the United Railways were blocked for about half an hour at the corner of Park avenue and Eleventh street by two freight cars which, because of their size, were unable to turn the corner. The rear trucks of the first flat car had to be taken off the tracks and pushed along on the ground before the flat cars could get out of Park avenue into Eleventh street.

Meanwhile all traffic on the two divisions of the road was stopped and passengers fumed and fretted or got out and walked. The cars were blocked from 8:45 to 9:10 a. m. The flat cars that caused the trouble are of the pattern used in hauling rails. They also hauled earth from excavations before the latter source of revenue was abandoned by the United Railways.

RAIN OR SNOW, COLDER FRIDAY

Clouds Coming With Freezing Temperature at Night.

Atmospheric conditions will combine with the customary smoke bank to make St. Louis a place of darkness, the Weather Man thinks, and the clouds will turn loose something—he's not sure whether it will be rain or snow.

The official forecast Thursday: "Increasing cloudiness, light rain or snow late tonight or Friday; much colder Friday; southerly winds. The minimum temperature tonight will be about 32 degrees."

A storm which is central over Northwest Texas fronts a belt of relatively low pressure extending northeast to the Lake region. There have been snow flurries in Illinois, Indiana, over the Lakes, and in Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana.

Rain is falling on the California and Oregon coasts. Elsewhere the weather is fair. Temperatures are higher in the lake and valley regions and much lower in the Northwest and in New England.

Wire Thieves Got Away.

A coat and a hatchet seized by J. G. Bain, manager of the Bell Telephone Co. in St. Louis County, are held by the county officials as clews to the identity of two wire thieves who were surprised at work by Mr. Bain, but who escaped. The two were chopping a cable on the Hanley road near Olive street road Wednesday, when Bain appeared. Seeing him, they first ran into a culvert, and then later ran across country after Bain had sent a call for Sheriff Herpel to Clayton. Several deputy sheriffs, who answered the call, found Bain and the coat and hatchet.

THAW DISMISSES A TALESMAN OPPOSED TO DEATH PENALTY

Overcome by Strain of First Session of Court, When She Saw Son Arraigned on Murder Charge, Mrs. Thaw Declines to Be Present at Today's Proceedings.

SIX MORE TALESMEN ARE EXAMINED; NONE SWORN

Slouching in His Chair, Haggard Prisoner Pays Little Attention to Relatives Who Surround Him, But Watches Jerome's Every Move—Dramatic Scenes in Court.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Harry Thaw, on trial for the murder of Stanford White, today rejected a juror who said he was opposed personally, to capital punishment. The District Attorney indicated, after some questionng, that the talesman was acceptable to the prosecuton, but Thaw held a consultation with his attorneys and then challenged the talesman. The challenge was sustained by the Court and Francis J. Lynch was added to the list excused from jury duty in the famous murder trial.

Broken by the strain of the first day of her son's trial, Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry Kendall Thaw, was not in court when the case was called today. Mrs. Thaw was extremely nervous when yesterday's session came to a close, and when she reached her hotel yesterday evening she was in a state of collapse. The attorneys for the defense stated today that Mrs. Thaw probably would not try to attend every session of the trial.

None of the confusion which was so apparent yesterday marked the opening of the second day of the trial. Today the police had the situation well in hand, and those who had no immediate business in the courtroom learned yesterday the futility of trying to break through the cordon of bluecoats.

When the morning session began today there were two jurors in the box, Deming B. Smith, No. 1, and George H. Feckte, No. 2.

Nearly half an hour before the session was opened, Mrs. Evyln made her way into the court room through the main doorway. She wore the same blue dress as yesterday. Her features were again obscured by the heavy white tulle veil. May McKenzie followed close behind the prisoner's wife, and then came Mr. and Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie. Mrs. Carnegie was muffled in furs.

Thaw's imposing array of counsel, numbering six altogether, reached the court room shortly before 10:30, at which time Thaw was in the prisoner's "pen," waiting to make his entrance. The newspaper writers, and jury talesmen again filled every available seat in the room and the public was barred. At 10:30 the call of the roll of the special panel was begun.

Edward Thaw entered the court early, and Mrs. Thaw, mother of the accused, and the Countess of Yarmouth, his sister, were not present.

Josiah C. Thaw, another brother of the accused, was in court for the first time.

Thaw was called to the bar at 10:45 a. m. As he walked briskly by his relatives to his place at the lawyer's table the smiles and bows which marked his appearance yesterday were missing. His wife leaned forward to nod to him.

Thaw greeted each of his counsel in turn and then sat facing the first talesman called. His eyelids seemed to move heavily, as though he had not rested well last night.

First Talesman Excused.

The first talesman was George F. Langenbacher, No. 20, who was quickly excused because of nonresidence.

"I have formed an opinion in this case," said Isaac Kendall, who was drawn as talesman No. 21.

The first talesman was excused to the exclusion of any so-called higher or unwritten law.

Mr. Kendall answered all these questions satisfactorily, but when it came to a question as to his acquaintance with the family of the accused, he said he had known Mrs. William Thaw for many years. He was then promptly excused by common consent.

William C. Story, talesman No. 22, was excused when he said he had a sick wife and child.

William C. Wilson gave his occupation as bookkeeper. During his examination it appeared that Thaw's counsel would again let the weight of the task of obtaining a jury rest upon the shoulders of the District Attorney. If the talesman said he had an opinion Mr. Jerome had to delve into the depth of the opinion, and in nearly every case he convinced the talesman he could waive his opinion in favor of the legal evidence.

Mr. Wilson said he had a very decided opinion and was not at all sure he could remove that opinion from his mind after hearing all the testimony. He would like to have every possible doubt as to the defendant's guilt removed.

"Your opinion is based upon the idle gossip of the newspapers, or rather what they have printed?" questioned the District Attorney.

"Yes," replied the talesman.

"Would the removal of all reasonable doubt convince you, without doing away with every possible doubt?"

"The distinction is rather fine," replied the talesman; "I would want the evidence to be satisfactory to me."

"Would you be swayed by sentiment or emotion, or would you go about reaching a decision in a calm, cool-headed manner?"

"I think I would remain cool."

The fact that the penalty of the crime might be death, the talesman said, would not deter him in reaching a verdict, as that would be a question with which the juror had nothing to do. Thaw seemed to take little interest in the examination of the talesmen. His eyes sought those of the talesmen only now and then, but most of his time his gaze was directed at the table before him. When Mr. Hartridge of his own counsel took up the examination Thaw appeared more animated and whispered several times to the attorney nearest him.

Mr. Hartridge asked Wilson but few questions. The talesman said that as a sworn juror he had the mental power to overcome the opinion he now held. He would take the opinion with him, however, into the jury box. Wilson was challenged for cause and excused.

David Barry, the twenty-fourth talesman, said he had an opinion so firmly fixed that it would take a great weight of evidence to dislodge it. By consent he was excused.

Ashby L. Bledier was disqualified by the court after he had shown a letter to Justice Fitzgerald.

Up to this time six talesmen had been examined without finding a satisfactory juror.

GRAPHIC PEN PICTURE OF THAW'S FIRST DAY IN COURT

By SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Slowly, relentlessly, toilsomely the mills of justice began their grinding in the Thaw case yesterday, when Harry K. Thaw faced the first of the jurymen who are to mete out to him life and freedom, death or that death in life which those endure who suffer the doom of the criminal insane.

As the mill-wheels creaked and groaned in their preliminary turning, their human grist watched with intent and fearful eyes the deliberate course of the events. For the machinery of the law is grinding out fate, not only for Harry Thaw, but for the family whose name he has bespattered with the mud of scandal and who, unswervingly loyal to their own flesh and blood in spite of all, witnessed, with an anxiety as feverish as his own, the first act of the stern and formal drama. The sum of what they saw accomplished yesterday was the securing of two jurors. Three were seated, but one was afterward excused.

How wearily the sluggish process must have dragged for Thaw's people no outsider may guess. From the first it was an ordeal for them, a bitter ordeal, the pain of which one can but hope will be dulled by the daily repetitions which they must face.

It began when the party arrived at the Criminal Courts Building, in two motor cars. Instantly they were surrounded by a crowd, made up largely of those abnormal souls who fatten on sensationalism. The women of the crowd were the most morbid. They commented with an openness that would have been unseemly at a waxworks exhibition.

"That's Mrs. Thaw, ain't it, getting out first?"

"No; Mrs. Thaw's the old one with the black veil. That's Mrs. Carnegie with her."

"Guess again. Evelyn Nesbit's with her."

"In the white veil? Don't she look peaked?"

"Oh, I guess it don't hurt them huge people. Where's the Countess? She's the one I want to see."

So the callous chatter flew back and forth as the heavily veiled women hurried between the lines of the sensation seekers that pressed forward to touch them, to peer into their faces, to snatch some gloating impression of suffering from their faces or manner.

It was some minutes before court opened that the Thaw family took their seats well to the side, in front of the jury box. Mrs. George Carnegie sat on the end, nearest the center, with the Countess of Yarmouth to her right. Then Mrs. Thaw, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and her friend, May McKenzie, in the order named. In the row just in front of them sat Mr. Carnegie and Edward Thaw, the prisoner's half brother. Carnegie is a small, trim, compactly built, brisk-moving young fellow, well groomed and with rather sharply cut features and a pleasantly alert expression.

Edward Thaw is a much larger man, square built, deliberate in his movements and with a face suggesting force and determination. To him Mrs. Thaw frequently appealed when some phase of the proceedings was not clear to her. The women of the party kept their veils drawn so that the crowd could see their faces but indistinctly during most of the morning session.

Thaw to the Bar.

Immediately upon the entrance of Justice Fitzgerald, District Attorney Jerome moved the trial of Harry K. Thaw for

SENATOR ALGER DEAD; ATTENDED SENATE TUESDAY

Former Secretary of War Succumbs to Sudden Atack of Heart Disease.

HEALTH SEEMED BETTER

Had Suffered for Years, but Doctor Thought He Was Improving.

FI[illegible]RED IN BEEF CASE

Scand[illegible] After Spanish-American War Forced Him From Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—United States Senator Russell A. Alger of Michigan died suddenly at his home in this city at 8:45 o'clock this morning. There were practically no premonitory symptoms that the end was near. At 8:30 the Senator had a pleasant chat with Mrs. Alger in her room, and then went downstairs. A few minutes later the Senator suffered a recurrence of the heart trouble from which he had suffered for a long time, and death came quickly.

The Senator had not been feeling well for several days. Tuesday night he had expected to attend a dinner at the home of Congressman William Alden Smith, the new Senator-elect, but at the last moment word came from him that he would not be able to come. His physician had advised him against going out that night.

Gen. Alger had suffered for years from chronic valvular disease of the heart. The Senator was in the Senate chamber Tuesday afternoon, where he stayed throughout most of the entire session, listening to the discussion of the Brownsville affair. About 4 o'clock he retired to the cloakroom, where he sat with Col. Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, and Senator Warner of Missouri, telling war stories.

Dr. Gerry Morgan, Senator Alger's physician, said:

"Gen. Alger had suffered for a good many years with chronic valvular disease of the heart, but of late he seemed to be a good deal better. This morning he awakened as usual at about 7 o'clock, and about 8 o'clock got up and went about the room for a few minutes.

"Then he laid down, and was at once stricken with acute oedema of the lungs. Ten minutes after he was stricken he was unconscious and did not regain consciousness. His death was quiet, and apparently painless."

Dr. Clayton was called in, but the Senator was breathing his last at that time.

Senator Alger's Career.

Following the election of President McKinley in 1896, in which campaign Senator Alger took a prominent part, President McKinley appointed him Secretary of War. During the war with Spain an outcry was made against the shipment of "embalmed beef" to Cuba, in which it was alleged Senator Alger played a somewhat important part. He resigned under this pressure shortly after the close of the war.

In 1901 he wrote a book called "The Spanish-American War," in which he sought to justify his own actions and condemned those of Gen. Miles, Admiral Sampson and many other officers. The controversy growing out of the charges he made in this book stirred up considerable excitement throughout the country, and was continued for quite a time.

In 1903, notwithstanding the charges which had been made against him, Michigan elected him to the United States Senate, to succeed James McMillan, for the term expiring 1907.

Senator Alger was born in Lafayette, O., Feb. 27, 1836. His parents died when he was 12 years of age, and for the following seven years he worked on a farm, earning hardly enough money to defray his expenses at the Richfield (O.) Academy during the winters.

For two winters after his graduation from the Academy, he taught school, and in 1859 was admitted to the bar. He commenced his practice in Cleveland, but on the first day of 1860 he removed to Michigan and began lumbering in a small way.

When the Civil War broke out Mr. Alger enlisted as a private in the Second Michigan Infantry. He was soon promoted, and later server as captain and major of the same regiment. He served as lieutenant-colonel of the Fifth Michigan Regiment, and as colonel of the Fifth. He was later promoted to brigadier-general and was finally made a major-general of volunteers.

At the close of the war Gen. Alger reentered the lumber business in Michigan and was at the head of Alger & Smith & Co. and the Manistique Lumber Co., which owned and operated extensive timber tracts in Michigan and Minnesota.

In 1885 Gen. Alger was elected Governor of Michigan and served through that and the following year. He was a leading candidate for President at the Republican national convention in 1888. He served one term as commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. He was appointed Secretary of War in 1897 and retained two years later. At that time his fortune was rated as $10,000,000.

It was announced last April that Senator Alger would not be a candidate to succeed himself in the Senate when the Michigan Legislature met the coming January. It was also declared that he was about to resign his senatorship, in addition to withdrawing his candidacy for re-election.

Senator Alger is survived by a wife, three daughters, Mrs. Harry D. Sheldon of Detroit, Mrs. Charles D. Pike of Chicago and Mrs. William E. Bailey of Harrisburg, Pa., and two sons, Russel A. Alger Jr. and Fredrick Moulton Alger, both of Detroit.

HE JUST GAVE AWAY BEER.

Anton Rothe Acquitted of Selling on Sunday.

Anton Rothe of 1326 North Ninth street and John Zackrgnaky of 1315 North Seventh street, saloonkeepers charged with selling drinks on Sunday, were dismissed in the Court of Criminal Correction Thursday.

Dan. 13 Rothe gave a bottle of beer to Policeman King, but refused to accept money for it. As he was charged with "selling" the beer, the case was thrown out. The case against Zackrgnaky was dismissed because Belester Rogalski, who was alleged to have bought beer on Sunday, could not be found by the police.

GOVERNMENT IS MAKING INQUIRY

REALTY MEN TESTIFY

They Say Land Is Worth $60,000, Which Is More Than Price Paid, $52,500.

Judge J. A. Wetmore, representing the Secretary of the Treasury, began an investigation in the Federal courtroom in East St. Louis Thursday into the report that the purchase of the site for the new East St. Louis Federal Building last month had several significant circumstances connected with it.

In opening the investigation Judge Wetmore said that the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury had been called to the matter by articles appearing in an East St. Louis newspaper.

He said that the newspaper had intimated that the price paid for the site, $52,500, was exorbitant, that the parties selling the site to the Government did not own the property at the time but only had an option on the property for $35,000, and that several Federal officials were interested in the option.

James W. Kirk, editor of the East St. Louis Daily Journal, in which the charges were printed, was the principal witness Thursday though his testimony was not startling. Mr. Kirk said that he wanted to disclaim authorship of the statements which had appeared in his paper touching the sale of the site. He said that the publication of the charge that Henry D. Sexton, who sold the property was such a good friend of Congressman Rodenberg that his competitors would have little chance, was intended to reflect public opinion in East St. Louis. He said he had not printed the statement with any other purpose in view.

The site purchased is the block fronting on Missouri avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets. It has a frontage of 200 feet and a depth of 170 feet.

Sold by Henry D. Sexton.

The site was purchased by a representative of the Treasury Department from Henry D. Sexton, president of the Southern Illinois National Bank. When the newspaper attack was made Congressman Rodenberg, who was mentioned in the articles, asked the Secretary of the Treasury to hold up the purchase and start an investigation.

Judge Wetmore first called on several prominent East St. Louis real estate men and property owners to give their opinion of the value of the site.

None of the men examined were sworn. Almost all of those heard in the forenoon session placed the value of the property at $200 a foot. This would make the site worth $60,000.

Judge Wetmore asked each of the witnesses what was the highest price they knew had been paid for property near the site. Several said that $100 a foot was the highest they knew had been paid for property in the vicinity. Others said that they understood that $120 a foot had been paid for property across the street.

Sexton Testifies.

Mr. Sexton stated to Judge Wetmore that he owned nearly all of the property which formed the site. He said he owned all the land facing on the street and back to a depth of 100 of the 170 feet. Of the 70 remaining feet, he said, 50 was owned by William A. Taussig and the remaining 20 feet was held in reserve by another man. He said he had an arrangement empowering him to sell. He admitted the sale of the property for $52,500, and declared that he made no offer of a gratuity to any Government official or representative to bring it about. He offered to make his statement under oath, and at the request of Judge Wetmore consented to embody it in the form of a sworn affidavit.

Mr. Sexton produced papers from the Citizens' Savings and Trust Company of East St. Louis showing his title to the property two years ago. These papers were identified by officials of the trust company.

Taussig practically made the same statement as Sexton and declared that there was no agreement with any Government official or representative to effect a deal.

WANTS CONGRESS TO END POLYGAMY

face is rounder, plumper, fresher, and is softened into a most appealing sweetness. With lips parted and eyes wide, as she paid eager and tremulous heed to the lawyers, she looked like some pretty child who has just had the first lesson of sorrow brought home to her. Not less intent, but always shrinking back into herself, Mrs. Carnegie kept close to her sister's shoulder. She is of a dark, slender, gypsy-like beauty, most pathetic in its lines of grief and fear.

Besides the two women of the Thaw blood, the women of the Thaw name alone looked like one of another race, not that she could not vie with them in a certain sort of attractiveness, but there was something artificial about her; something considered and calculated, in her pose and manner, by contrast with the mobile and unconscious bearing of her sister-in-law. Harsh though the distinction may seem, if a stranger were directed to that line of sorrowing women and told to pick out the one who had permitted her name to be dragged in the mire of two cities, he would infallibly have picked out Evelyn Thaw. Otherwise, he were blind.

As soon as court adjourned and those unfortunate and innocent prisoners of the law, the jurors, had passed out under guard, the Thaw group hurried away, and the opening scene of the final act of the terrible drama which cost Stanford White his life was over.

MONEY'S NEPHEW IN JAIL.

Senator's Relative to Be Tried for Murder.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Jan. 24.—The grand jury has returned an indictment against J. D. Money Jr., for the murder of L. J. Henderson, and young Money, who has been out on bond of $20,000 since the killing in November, has been rearrested and placed in jail pending his trial, which will be called in the Circuit Court next week.

Money is a nephew of United States Senator Money and a cousin of Gov. Vardaman of Mississippi.

Henderson's family is prominent in the State. Money was in Jackson yesterday with his father, Col. J. D. Money, and held a conference with the Governor. The killing occurred at Money station, near here, and was witnessed by Henderson's wife and another woman. The trouble between the men resulted, it is said, from the purchase of land from Money by Henderson, who was a planter.

BANKER IN AUTO CHASED A MILE

Vice-President of Mechanics-American Gives Bond for Chauffeur.

The automobile of Henry P. Hilliard, vice-president of the Merchants-Laclede National Bank, was chased on Locust street, from Theresa avenue to Eighteenth street, Thursday morning by Policeman Cooney in the police automobile. Charles D. Hornzberg of 1931 Madison street, the chauffeur, was arrested. Mr. Hilliard accompanied him to the Four Courts in his own auto and signed a bond for his release.

There was no speedometer on the Hilliard machine. Herzberg said he thought he was running at a slow and careful gait. The speedometer of the police machine showed that the gait had been 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Cooney first sighted the Hilliard machine at Grand avenue and gave chase. His speedometer showed that the speed from there to Leonard avenue was 15 miles an hour. From Leonard to Jefferson avenue it was from 15 to 20 miles an hour. At Jefferon the speed was diminished, and at Eighteenth street the pursued auto was overhauled and the chaffeur arrested.

Mr. Hilliard said that if he had known the chaffeur was exceeding the speed limit he would have caused him to slow down.

The bond signed by Mr. Hilliard at the Four Courts is for the appearance of Herzberg in Police Court Friday.

Gold

To Be Made As Hard As

Steel!

AFTER nineteen years of countless experiments Dr. Vaughn of Los Angeles has succeeded in tempering and hardening gold, silver and copper until they will carry an edge as hard and fine as that obtained with the most refined steel. This will mean much to the dental and surgical profession, because on gold or silver no miscroscopic atom of rust can form to harbor dangerous germs of disease.

• • •

To men like Dr. Vaughn there is no such word as fail. Think of a man setting his teeth on a problem and keeping them there for 19 years before he had bitten it through! How's that for dogged determination not to fail?

Lost Diamonds Found.

Mrs. J. T. McCasland of 4359 McPherson avenue spent a sleepless night Wednesday over the loss of diamonds valued at $3000. The gems were lost on a Pullman car Wednesday night and were recovered by Mrs. McCasland Thursday. Mrs. McCasland was returning from a visit in Denver on a Burlington train and reached St. Louis at 7:45 p. m. A chamois bag containing the diamonds was attached to a string around her neck. The bag slipped from her throat and she did not miss them until 11 p. m. She immediately went to the Pullman office at the Union Station, where the gems were found.

COURT GIVES GIESEKE CASE OVER TO JURY

Three Possible Penalties Outlined to Fit Verdict in Shooting Trial.

JUDGE SALE SIFTS ALL

Murder in First Degree, Killing in Anger and Manslaughter Defined.

TALE OF QUARREL TOLD

Judge Sale Thursday delivered his instructions to the jury which is trying the case of Walter Gieseke, charged with the murder of Charles Schaefer at the latter's home on Pleasant street, during a quarrel over a debt of $1.20, in 1905.

Judge Sale said that if the jury believed the evidence indicated a deliberate and malicious shooting, their verdict should be murder in the first degree, with the question of punishment left to the decision of the court. In the event that the evidence warranted the assumption that the killing was done in the heat of passion, but without premeditation, the verdict should be murder in the second degree, the penalty for which could be fixed at a sentence of not less than ten years in the Penitentiary. If the circumstances were such as to indicate manslaughter in the fourth degree, Judge Sale instructed the jury to find to that effect and assess the punishment at either two years in the Penitentiary or not less than six months in the City Jail, or at a fine of not less than $500, or a fine of $100 and three months in the City Jail. He defined manslaughter in the fourth degree to be killing in the heat of passion on the provocation of a word or blow.

Gieseke testified on the stand in Judge Sale's Court Wednesday, as did his mother, Mrs. Magdalen Gieseke, and his brother, Benno, that Schaefer struck him in the face, raining blow upon blow as he forced Gieseke to retreat across the yard of 4200 Pleasant street, until Gieseke tripped over the shafts of a wagon and fell. Even then they swore, Schaefer pinned him to the ground and struck him until he was dazed.

In rebuttal of this evidence, Assistant Circuit Attorney Gillespie placed on the stand George Keller, who was in the saloon over which the fight started. Policeman Krewet, who arrested Gieseke, and Policeman Caudle, who talked to Gieseke in a cell in the Angelica Street Police Station. The three men testified that they saw no blood or bruises when Gieseke entered the station ten minutes after the shooting. Krewet and Caudle said they saw no bruises the next day. The State contends that if Gieseke received a severe beating that he was forced to fire in order to save his life that the blows must have necessarily left marks.

Three Agree on Quarrel.

Three of the witnesses for the State agreed in saying they heard Schaefer, Mrs. Gieseke and her son quarreling on the porch on the second floor of the Pleasant street address, where the Schaefers live. Gustave Zimmerman testified that he heard five shots fired in rapid succession, and reached the head of the stairs leading to the yard in time to meet Schaefer. He testified that he saw sparks falling from the coat of Schaefer.

Schaefer Angered By Call.

Walter Gieseke testified that after his mother had made several efforts to collect the bill she had been told that if she called that night she would be paid. She asked Benno, who had called to collect several previous days, and Walter to accompany her.

"We went to the house and Schaefer was eating his supper. Mother told him what she had called for and he became abusive and brandished a knife. He then threatened to throw mother downstairs and moved toward us with the knife. Benno went downstairs and I fired a revolver and told him to put the knife down. He did so and then said he was going for a policeman. I told him to go ahead. After he had left the yard I went downstairs to the saloon, where I saw several men I knew. I asked them to have a drink and then thought I had better get mother and go home. When I entered the yard he jumped on me and struck me, forcing me back to the wagon, where I fell."

His statement was corroborated by his mother and brother to the smallest detail. Eight character witnesses were heard and as many discharged without testifying. The Judge told the jury that the case would be argued before them Thursday and they would then be instructed. In the meantime they will spend the night locked up in their rooms at a downtown hotel, where they will be allowed to hold communication with no one.

THEATER BURNS.

Washington Academy of Music Destroyed by Fire.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Academy of Music at Ninth and D streets, Northwest, was almost completely gutted by fire of unknown origin, which broke out about 5 o'clock this morning. A number of offices were located in the building, as was also the Spencerian Business College. None of these was damaged by fire, but some were flooded by water, the fire being confined to the stage and auditorium of the theater. So far as can be learned, the loss is estimated at between $40,000 and $50,000.

The building was insured for $75,000.

Two horses drawing engine No. 20 were killed in a collision with a street car while on the way to the fire.

Boy Falls From Loft.

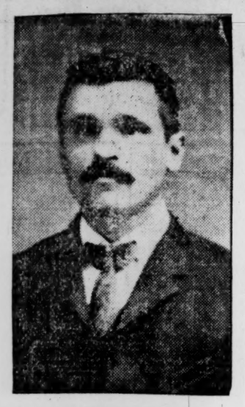

Edward Keersemoker, 11 years old, of 2857 Magnolia avenue, was just recovering from a dog bite when he fell from a loft and broke his right wrist, while playing in the loft of the barn of Contractor Pohlman at Jefferson avenue and Victor street with his brother Frank, 9 years old. A plank broke beneath his weight and he fell to the floor below, striking on a scale. He was taken to the City Hospital.

Peary Leaves Society.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Commander Robert H. Peary has resigned from the presidency of the American Georgraphical Society. At the annual meeting the post was given by the council of the society to Archer M. M. Huntington, son of the late Collins P. Huntington.

STABBED AT BROTHER'S WEDDING CELEBRATION.

ANTONIO PERENZI.

HOST STABBED IN FIGHT OVER NUTS

Uninvited Guest Ordered From Wedding Party Plunged Stiletto in Man's Side.

Antonio Perenzi of 7818 Reilly avenue is at his home suffering from a stiletto wound in his body inflicted by Fursorr Jacomo of 317 East Curtois street Wednesday night at Perenzi's home.

Perenzi had arranged a feast in honor of the marriage of his brother-in-law, Tom Cozzoni, to Theresa Miller. The feast began at 8 o'clock. About a dozen fellow-workmen of the bridegroom were present and Jacomo, although not invited, was there, too.

John Scopin, a boarder, living at the Reilly avenue address, about 8:30 went to a nearby store and purchased some nuts and candy. When he returned, he asked Jacomo to divide the nuts equally among the guests. This Jacomo did and after the guests had finished eating the nuts, Jacomo got a plate and walked around the room asking each person to contribute a dime.

About three had contributed when Perenzi objected to the scheme, saying that he had arranged the feast and that he wanted it carried out on his plans. Jacomo took this for an insult and drew a stiletto.

Perenzi and his wife told Jacomo that he was not invited and that if he wanted to fight to go out on the street. Perenzi said that there would be no fighting in his house.

Jacomo left the house, sullenly followed by Perenzi. At the gate, Jacomo stopped and again began to quarrel. He still held the stiletto in hand.

Perenzi ordered Jacomo out of his yard and slapped him on the cheek. This enraged Jacomo and he stabbed Perenzi in the left side above the waist line. Mrs. Perenzi, her father, Philip Cazzoni and her brother, John Cazzoni, rushed into the yard and separated the men. Jacomo fled up an alley. Mrs. Perenzi said that he was bareheaded, but still carried the knife. He has not been arrested.

Omaha Physician Dead.

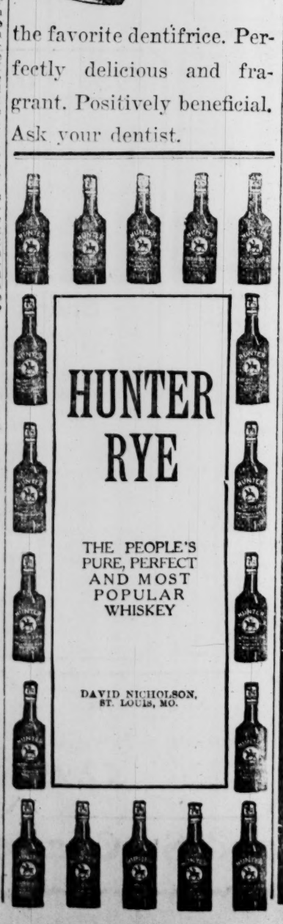

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 24.—Dr. B. F. Crummer of Omaha, one of the best-known physicians and surgeons of the West, died this morning from the effects of a paralytic stroke which occurred last March.

He was formerly chairman of the State Medical Board and instructor in the Omaha Medical College.

STEWART ATTACKS BANK RESERVE LAW

Opposing Trust Company Bill, He Says Directors Are Capable.

SEES NO NEED OF ACT

Judge Klein Declares City Improvements Would Suffer by It.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—A. C. Stewart, counsel for the St. Louis Union Trust Co., in opposing before the Senate Committee on Banking last night, the Humphrey bill to limit the powers of trust companies created a sensation by denouncing as an absurdity that provision of the State banking law requiring banks to keep a reserve fund equal to 25 per cent of their deposits.

"If I had my way," said Mr. Stewart, "I would abolish this feature in our statutes. The Board of Directors of a bank, not the Legislature, is the only body capable of determining what sum banks should set aside for the protection of their depositors."

Mr. Stewart's remarks were directed against the enactment of that clause of the Humphrey bill placing trust companies on the same footing with banks, so far as the reserve fund is concerned.

In the course of his speech, Mr. Stewart used such words as "nonsensical," "unscientific" and "vicious" to express his disapproval of the restriction placed on banks by the Legislature. He considered legislation along this line "paternalistic," because he held that in the history of banks it had never been shown that the reserve requirement was calculated to safeguard the interests of depositors.

"On the contrary," he added, "it tends to imbue the public with a false idea of confidence in the safety of banks.

"The reserve requirement is a hardship rather than an aid to sound banking. The directors alone are able to say whether it should be 5 per cent or 25 or 40 per cent. Their acts are subject to the laws of the State and they are assumed to be guided by common prudence.

"Of course, no bank or trust company operating within the province of wisdom ever fails to provide sufficient funds to meet its requirements."

Views as a Citizen.

Mr. Stewart prefaced his address with the statement that he was giving his views as a citizen and a business man, without reference to his position as counsel of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. He thought, perhaps, he said, that his ideas might not be the ideas of his banker associates, but, nevertheless, he felt that he should state them freely and frankly.

He objected to all the provisions of the Humphrey bill, which prohibit trust companies (1) from buying or selling stock or investment securities, (2) from becoming sureties on bonds required by courts or for the fidelity of persons, (3) from issuing debenture bonds in excess of capital stock and requiring that 10 per cent of the company's surplus be set aside until the surplus fund equals 20 per cent of the capital stock and making the stockholders liable individually for the obligations of their companies.

Mr. Stewart insisted that there is no necessity for the radical innovations in the law pertaining to trust companies and cited the solidarity of the St. Louis institutions as proof that the existing law fully meets every public requirement.

F. L. Brent, president of the Fidelity Trust Co. of Kansas City, and Judge Jacob Klein, counsel for the Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis, also spoke against the bill. Judge Klein said to the Post-Dispatch correspondent that, while he was not opposed to the 25 per cent reserve limit, so far as it related to banks, still bankers regarded that statutory provision as parental.

"But that is not the worst feature of this bill," said he. "Under the proposed law, no trust company could buy or sell bonds. Who will say that is is unsafe, for example, to purchase the bonds of the city of St. Louis or the United States Government?

Effect on Municipalities.

"We could not aid counties in securing municipal improvement by buying their bonds if this act became a law. If, acting as administrator, we were to be made custodian of $100,000, we would be permitted to invest $80,000. Why shouldn't the remaining $20,000 also be allowed to earn something for the estate. The bill is altogether too radical."

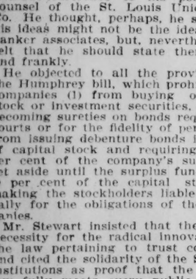

The committee will hold another meeting Monday night. Senator McAllister, chairman, and the other members are inclined to favor the bill, with slight amendments.

Lumbermen Elect Niemeier.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 24.—The Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association elected the following officers: President, J. L. Kaul, Birmingham, Ala.; vice-president, H. H. Foster, Malvern, Ark.; treasurer, A. J. Niemeyer, St. Louis.

Brown Your Hair

Stain Your Gray, Bleached or Faded Hair So No One Can Tell It. With Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Juice Hair Stain. Send Today for a Trial Package.

"You'd never think I stained my hair, after I use Mrs. Potter's Hair Stain. The Stain doesn't hurt the hair as dyes do, but makes it grow out fluffy."

Stain your hair a rich golden brown to almost black, so it will defy detection, be uniform in color from tip to root, and natural in appearance. It takes you a few minutes once a month to apply Mrs. Potter's Walnut-Juice Hair Stain with your comb. Stains only the hair, doesn't rub off, contains no poisonous dyes, sulphur, lead or copper, which make the hair look "dead" and fall out. It is a vegetable preparation, has no odor, no sediment, no grease. Also a tonic for the hair. The only remedy for hair ruined by bleaching. One bottle should last you a year. Price, $1.00 per bottle. For sale in St. Louis by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., 6th and Washington avenue; Raboteau & Co., Broadway and Lucas, and Johnson Bros., Broadway and Franklin avenue. We guarantee satisfaction. Send us 25 cents (stamps or coin) and we will mail you, charges prepaid, a trial package, in plain sealed wrapper with valuable booklet on Hair. INQUIRY INTO 1906 CAMPAIGN ASKED

Assemblymen Would Ask Two Committees if They Solicited Passes.

POLITICIAN KEPT THEM

Paid His Fare, but Retained Evidence for "Future Reference."

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—The Democratic and Republican leaders of the House of Representatives are playing hide and seek with reference to the proposed investigation of the campaign funds of the Democratic and Republican parties. The Republicans are claiming that they have already been "smoked out" on the $21,000 brewery subscription turned over to Chairman Niedringhause of the Republican State Committee in the campaign of 1904, and that it is now up to W. D. Vandiver, State Insurance Superintendent, who was then chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic State Committee, to explain how much was collected from the Federal service corporations to promote the election of Gov. Folk.

Some of the more radical members favor an inquiry into the report that both committees in the 1906 campaign solicited passes from the railroad companies. A well-known St. Louis politician received free transportation from the Democratic State Committee to various parts of the State, but feeling that an inquiry would be made sooner or later into the matter, paid his fare, but kept the passes for "future reference."

Friends of this same politician are anxious that Judge Evans should be called upon to explain just how the recent November campaign was conducted and Mr. Niedringhaus, of course, under the same resolution, would be required to tell the number of passes received by the Republican State Committee from the railroads.

Mr. Farris' Statement.

Mr. Vandiver is still "mum" on the charge that John H. Carroll, attorney for the Burlington Railroad Co.; Murray Carleton, former president of the United Railways Co., and Alexander G. Cochrane, general solicitor of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., contributed for the benefit of the Folk campaign fund the sum of $10,000. It appears, according to the information furnished to the Post-Dispatch correspondent, that Mr. Carroll's contribution was $5500. The committee needed more funds, and, hesitating to "dun" Carroll again, decided to levy an assessment against the St. Louis Police Department. The Police Department, through Dr. Faulkner, turned over to the Folk exchequer the sum of $11,000. This was done, it is said, after a conference between William H. Phelps of the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., Dr. Faulkner and a politician close to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Representative Frank Farris of Crawford County, as announced in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, has offered to serve as chairman of any committee that may be appointed to look into the Vandiver contributions.

Through an error in transmission, it was made to appear in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch that Mr. Farris had reviewed the history of the now celebrated Carroll-Carleton-Cochrane campaign subscription. That part of the article appearing in quotation marks and attributed to Senator Farris as an interview was intended to be published as the information obtained by the Post-Dispatch correspondent here. Mr. Farris merely stated that he was not unwilling to take up the duties of chairman of the proposed "smelling" committee.

GRAND JURIES REGULATED.

Bill Requires Meeting at Least Once a Year.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—Under a bill introduced today by Representative Carter of Clark County, circuit judges are required to call a grand jury in every county in the State at least once a year. Grand juries are required by the bill to investigate the condition of public buildings, violation of the game laws, election laws, liquor laws and such other laws as the court may direct.

The sale of diseased or unwholesome meat to any eelymosynary institution of the State is prohibited in a bill introduced by Representative Nelson of Cooper County. The receipt of any such meat or food is also prohibited. The penalty for violation is a fine of $5 to $100 and imprisonment of 10 days to 6 months.

WOULD COMPEL EDUCATION.

Charities Conference Opposes Child Labor.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—The Missouri Conference of Charities and Corrections in session in Jefferson City, has adopted resolutions urging the Legislature to pass effective laws for compulsory education, for the prevention of child labor and for the perfection and extension of the Juvenile Court and probation system. County poorhouses are objected to as insane hospitals.

The following are the newly elected officers: President, Matt W. Hall, Warden of the State Penitentiary; vice-president, Robert Clark, superintendent of the Reform School at Boonville; secretary-treasurer, John B. Quinn, chief attendance officer of the St. Louis School Board. The next meeting will be held in Marshall.

CATALOGUE BEAUTY.

C. Young & Sons Volume Is Better Than Ever.

As usual, the new spring catalog, just off the press, published by the C. Young & Sons Co., 1406 Olive street, surpasses all previous numbers of its own house as well as others in beauty and usefulness. The front and back covers are printed in rich colors and finely embossed. The catalog is revised, enlarged and improved and will be mailed free of charge to anyone asking it of the C. Young & Sons Co.

The book is full of information, valuable references and interesting instructions, apart from the mere description and prices. It is of mutual benefit to customers and dealer. Liberal offers have been made by the company to clubs who desire to enter into competition in raising flowers and growing vegetables.

A special department has been opened by the company for Young's 50 cent bargains in roses, plants, bulbs, etc., and all of the bargain lists are accompanied with clear illustrations.

Would End False Alarms.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 24.—The House today passed the bill by Haller of St. Louis, making the turning in of a false alarm of fire punishable by imprisonment in the Penitentiary for not more than three years. The vote was 113 to 9. The bill now goes to the Senate for action.

They Are Playing Golf in Sunny San Antonio

To all newcomers, San Antonio offers a thousand delightful surprises. For the sightseer, the old Mission Churches are still here, the Cathedral of San Fernando and gray and ghostly in the dazzling sunlight, the historic Alamo. For the invalid a perfect combination of sunny weather, pure dry air, beautiful scenery and modern accommodations.

The Climate's the thing in San Antonio

The invigorating air, warm and dry, the altitude; the perfect natural drainage, all combine to make the temperature as nearly perfect as can be. The remarkably uniform temperature commends San Antonio to any one seeking a desirable Winter resort, particularly those who suffer from respiratory troubles.

Nature is prodigal here, and it is possible to spend nearly every day out of doors under sunny skies. The parks and plazas, the margins of the creeks and rivers, the groves of palm and magnolia, lose none of their lustrous green during the winter months.

The exceptionally low rates during the Winter months—the excellent train service and accommodations via the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Ry., makes it a journey of but small cost and not of tiresome length. Write today for a copy of my free book about Winter Trips and for particulars as to rates, service, etc.

ROADS THREATEN TO CUT SERVICE IF FARES FALL

Big Officials Tell of Losses Before Joint Legislative Committee.

FEAR FOR THE EMPLOYE

Attorney-General Hadley Gives Figures of Profits in Missouri.

ANTI-PASS LAW UPHELD

Lobbyists Disappear When Their Chiefs Appear in Jefferson City.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—The railroads have thrown down the gauntlet before the people of Missouri in the fight on 2-cent railroad fare. If the Legislature enacts the reduced fare law the railroads will give poor train service and the business interests of the State will suffer.

Such is the threat made by representatives of the biggest railroads in the State at the hearing before the Senate and House committees on railroads in joint session.

J. Sebastian, passenger traffic manager of the Frisco-Rock Island lines, declared before the committee in vigorous terms that if the 2-cent fare bill was made a law, there would be a curtailment of train service, with the result that development of the State and the various industries of the State would be seriously injured. E. M. McKenna, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and other railroad officials, made similar statements.

Some doubt is expressed by several members of the committees as to whether the railroads will curtail their service, but it was made evident that the principal fight against the bill will be made along that line.

The railroad lobbyists who have been thronging Jefferson City since the session opened mysteriously disappeared upon the arrival of officials of the roads, and when the committees were in session, only James M. Seibert and "Fire Alarm" Flanigan of the Missouri Pacific staff were in evidence in Jefferson City. Flanigan remained about the Madison House, but Seibert journeyed to the committee room, taking a seat far in the rear, and not participating in the proceedings.

An Array of Officials.

The railroads brought an amazing array of officials to the capital for the hearing. Among them were:

W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe; C. A. Goodnow, general manager of the Chicago & Alton; J. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager, and W. A. Lalor, assistant general passenger agent of the Burlington; E. W. McKenna, vice-president, and C. L. Cobb, Southwestern passenger agent, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; S. C. Warner, general passenger agent of the Kansas City Southern; C. Haile, traffic manager, J. W. Maxwell, assistant general manager, and W. M. Fenwick, assistant general passenger agent of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas; B. H. Payne, assistant general passenger agent, and E. S. Jewett, general agent, of the Missouri Pacific; A. J. Bandy, general passenger agent of the Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City; J. Sebastin, passenger traffic manager, H. S. Ray, assistant general passenger agent, and Frank Nay, general auditor, of the Frisco-Rock Island lines; Alex Hilton, general passenger agent of the Frisco, and C. S. Crane, general passenger agent of the Wabash.

Frank Nay, general auditor of the Frisco-Rock Island, first addressed the committee, declaring 3 cents a mile to be not excessive for passenger service. He said the population in proportion to area in Missouri was much less than in the New England states, and that the railroads could not stand a reduction in rates, as those in the New England states could. He said there is now a deficit on his road in passenger operation, and that there is constant increase in the cost of such service.

He read figures showing that in 1906 the total gross receipts in Missouri were $3,139,114.45, and the expenses $3,169,792.25, a deficit of $30,677.81. This was on all classes of traffic. He said the deficit on operation of passenger trains, including mail and express service, was $242,106.71, and that on passenger service alone it was $201,899.24. The average receipts a train mile of passenger service was 90 cents, while the cost of operation a train mile was $1.16.

He advanced statistics showing by comparisons that wages were much higher in Missouri for railroad employes than the general average of the United States.

He said 3 cents a mile had been the established passenger rate since the first operation of railroads 75 years ago. He did not discuss the feature that at that time the country was very sparsely settled, though he read statistics showing a greatly increased cost in building cars, stations and roadbed. He also mentioned that the farmer receives much more money for his products than 10 years ago, and can, therefore, bear much more transportation for the same money. Average transportation rates, he said, were 2½ per cent less than 10 years ago.

Attorney-General Hadley, who had been called by the committees, presented some statistics he had gathered in the maximum freight rate suits.

"The men who invest their money in railroad properties," he said, "do not stand in the same position as the man who invests his money in the ordinary business. They have no right to receive more than a reasonable return on their investment, and if they do receive more they take from the people that which belongs to the people, and which can be recovered in an action at law.

Hadley Gives Statistics.

"The claims and testimony of railroad men is frequently actuated by their private interests. Before the State Board of Equalization they say their road is worth not more than $30,000 a mile for taxation purposes, while in determining the value on which they should derive earnings they place the value of the same property at $45,000 and $50,000 a mile.

"The Attorney-General presented statistics showing the Wabash in 1904 (World's Fair year) had net earnings on passenger business of $1,803,429.49 in Missouri, and in the following year had net earnings of $714,428.69.

"The latter figures showed that for every 68 cents expended the railroads received $1. He said that a road which received $1 on an expenditure of 70 cents was supposed to be a remarkably good road. He was interrupted by S. C. Warner of the Kansas City Southern, who asked:

"Do not your figures on the World's Fair year bear out the contention that density of population is the thing to be considered in determining the question?"

"They do," replied the Attorney-General, "but they also show that reduced rates induces travel."

Regarding statements that earnings in Missouri were less than in other states, the Attorney-General said he had evidence showing the average net profits of the Burlington on its whole road was $3500 a mile, while the average net profits on the Missouri portions of its lines was $5000 a mile.

J. Sebastian of the Frisco-Rock Island was the first to suggest that a reduced passenger rate would result in a curtailment of train service.

"If you reduce the passenger rate," he said, "there will be a curtailment of train service, which will have a bad effect on the whole State. The railroads have made plans for the greater development of Missouri, and that should not be stopped by inimical legislation. A 2-cent rate would cause the railroads to stop their efforts to induce immigration to Missouri. Co-operation with the railroads instead of opposition to them would be better for the people of Missouri.

"A reduced passenger rate," said Alex Hilton, general passenger agent of the Frisco, "would result in decreased train service and slower time. It may be all right at some future date, when traffic managers shall have been successful in building up the State."

C. S. Crane, general passenger agent of the Wabash, said times are good now, but bad times might come, and the railroads, if they earnings were decreased, would be unable to stand them. He took the position that the railroad employe would be the one to suffer.

E. M. McKenna of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, said that if the rate was reduced to 2 cents there would be no inducement for railroads to extend their lines. Such legislation, he said, would result in discouraging investments in railroad properties.

C. A. Goodnow, general manager of the Chicago & Alton, said railroads are now encountering much difficulty in borrowing money because financiers fear inimical legislation, and that if the bill under consideration should be passed, the railroads would be unable to get the money they needed.

C. Haile, traffic manager of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, said the abolition of passes would not make a noticeable change in the gross revenue. C. S. Crane of the Wabash, which has encountered the 2-cent fare in Ohio, said his road had found some increased business, but that such business came from the electric lines, which had previously taken it from the railroads.

"So you see," said Crane, "if you pass this bill you will keep electric lines out of the State, and, as I understand it, you people want electric roads to be built."

P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington, failed to see anything worth mentioning in the fact that railroad property was worth different prices when it was before the Board of Equalization for taxation, and when it was being considered as a basis of earnings.

Calls Pass Law Proper.

"You do the same thing," he declared, "when you dodge the assessor. The value is different when a thing is up for sale. Why make such a talk over a little thing like that? What's the use of dodging the truth?"

On the pass question he said that on his road in 1906 the free business, aside from railroad employes, amounted to only 3.31 per cent.

"The anti-pass law has come to stay," he said, "and is perfectly proper. I can't see how anyone can defend the pass for any purpose."

The committees took the 2-cent-fare bill under advisement, and within a few days will decide on the report to be made on the measure. There is every indication that both the Senate and House committees will report the bill for passage.

CAN'T PENSION TEACHERS

Lawyer Tells Board It Would Be Unconstitutional.

The "schoolmarm" is rapidly taking the place of the schoolmaster in the United States, according to statistics presented by Supt. Soldan at a meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday. In St. Louis, he said, it had been the policy of the board to offset this tendency by retaining as large a proportion of men as possible. Prof. Calvin M. Woodward said that the salaries of high school teachers are too low. He advocated the appointment of one second assistant for every two, instead of every three assistants.

The proposal to pension old and disabled teachers who have served for 30 years or more was dropped, on the advice of an attorney that such a use of the Board's money would be unconstitutional.

The contract for building the new Gardenville school was awarded to the Helm Building Co., which bid $67,246.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Costs Nothing to Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or, rather, in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

STRUCK BY CAR, DIES IN HOSPITAL

It Is Believed by Witnesses of Tragedy That Whelan Is a Suicide.

Michael Whelan, who was struck by a car at Broadway and Olive street early on the morning of Jan. 2, died Thursday morning at the City Hospital. His skull was fractured and he did not regain consciousness after the accident. When he was truck he had on no shoes and was scantily clad and the motorman and an eye witness stated that he deliberately threw himself in front of the car. It appeared that he had sought to commit suicide in that way and the motorman was not arrested.

When he was taken to the City Hospital a memorandum book bearing the name and address, T. J. Doran, Delmar boulevard, was found on him and it was at first supposed that he was Doran, but Doran went to the hospital and was unable to identify the man or account for his name being in the memorandum book.

Relatives afterward identified him. Whelan was 38 years old. He had been living at Sixth street and Franklin avenue.

TEXAS CLAIMANT OF MILLIONS SHOT

Cowan, Accused of Misuse of Mails, Wounded After Leaving Lawyers.

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 24.—Following a conference with his attorneys relative to a charge of misuse of the mails pending against him, Joseph H. Cowan, who recently has come into considerable prominence because of his efforts to recover a large block of land in the heart of the uptown district of New York known as the Hartsfield estate, yesterday retired to an adjoining room and several moments later was found seated behind a book case suffering from a serious pistol wound in his left breast. The property Cowan claims is estimated to be worth $200,000,000.

The action brought against him in the Federal Court was based on correspondence he had with other claimants.

SHONTS OPPOSED RETIRING FROM HIS RAILROAD

Offered to Leave Commission When Roosevelt Questioned Propriety.

CLASHED WITH STEVENS

NEW SALARY IS $50,000

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—There have been stories of disagreements between Secretary Taft and Chairman Shonts of the Canal Commission, and it was said that the President was not satisfied with him. Still, these stories were denied regularly at the White House and in the War Department, following the acceptance of Mr. Shonts' resignation yesterday.

Today it was stated at the White House that Mr. Shonts had received a financial offer it was impossible for him to refuse, and that under the circumstances the President did not feel justified in asking him to remain. Chief Engineer Stevens and Chairman Shonts clashed frequently on questions of policy.

Some months ago President Roosevelt wrote Chairman Shonts a letter, in which Mr. Shonts was asked if he thought it proper to retain his position as President of the Clover Leaf Railroad and remain as the head of the Isthmian Canal Commission. Mr. Shonts replied that he did not see any impropriety in his action, but stated that he would retire from the commission at the discretion of President Roosevelt. Mr. Shonts' salary as president of the Clover Leaf Railroad is $25,000 a year and as chairman of the canal commission, $30,000 a year.

Mr. Shonts has always been most enthusiastic about digging the canal and is at present in the West to make two speeches telling of the feasibility of the project and the ease with which the ditch can be dug. While there may have been friction it is thought that it has been nothing more serious than the usual clash of men who have such important work on hand.

Morton Shonts' Sponsor.

Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Co., was in Washington Sunday night to see the President, and his visit had something to do with the retirement of Shonts. Morton was one of the original sponsors of Shonts and holds him in high regard. He suggested Shonts to the Belmont Co., and it was through him that Shonts received the offer for the place.

President Roosevelt has apparently been back of Shonts in everything he has done, and he has known of Shonts' determination to retire fro some time. It was announced at the White House Dec. 3 that the nominations of the new Canal Commission officials would be sent to the Senate the following day, but they have been held up since that time, probably in anticipation of his resignation.

The retirement of Chairman Shonts, with a complimentary letter from President Roosevelt, is in striking contrast with the exit of Chairman Wallace, who was abused by President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Taft, when Wallace desired to leave the Canal Commission because he could get more money and needed it. When inquiry was made by the Post-Dispatch representative as to whether Chairman Shonts had been rebuked and condemned because he had suddenly left the Government service, it was explained at the White House: "That Mr. Shonts had received such a flattering financial offer that it was impossible for him to decline it."

RYAN NOW ABOVE BELMONT IN POWER.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—It looks as though Thomas F. Ryan may have taken August Belmont into camp just like he has done many another. Theodore Perry Shonts, who resigned as chairman of the Panama Canal Commission, has been elected president of the Interborough, replacing August Belmont as the executive head of the Subway, surface and elevated roads of the city.

Mr. Shonts is a Ryan man more than a Belmont man, and one of the conclusions, which his elevation to the presidency of the Interborough company caused Wall street men to reach, was that Ryan is now a greater power in the city transportation trust than Belmont.

Further ground for this conclusion was found in the fact that John B. McDonald, the contractor who built the Subway and who was practically forced out of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. by Belmont, was elected vice-president of the Interborough-Metropolitan company. Mr. McDonald and Mr. Belmont were bitter enemies for a time.

As head of the transportation lines Mr. Shonts' salary will be $50,000.

STEVENS WILL HAVE COMBINED DIRECTION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Announcement was made today at the War Department that the offices of Chairman and Chief Engineer of the Isthmian Canal Commission would be combined and that Mr. Stevens, the Chief Engineer, would be given the appointment, the understanding being that he will maintain a residence on the Isthmus.

The resignation of Chairman Shonts, it also was stated, will be accompanied by his resignation as president of the Panama Railroad Co., to take effect upon the same date that he will sever his connection with the Isthmian Canal Commission, which will be not later than March 4.

Mississippi Negro Lynched.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 24.—A negro lynching occurred at Greenwood, Gov. Vardaman's home town, Tuesday night before the chief executive had a chance to call out troops or offer other interference. The victim was Henry Bell, who was taken away from a deputy sheriff while being brought to Greenwood from Greenville, where he had been in jail several months for safekeeping. The negro was charged with attacking a white woman.

CAPT. PEUGNET ILL.

Nervous Affection Has Affected His Sight.

Capt. Ernest Peugnet, who recently divorced his young wife, is ill at his home 4245 Lindell boulevard. Just after the conclusion of the divorce suit he became subject to a nervous trouble, said by his physicians to be the result of the strain due to the trial.

It affected his eyes, and he found himself unable to read or to sign papers and checks. An oculist told him he needed the services of a nerve specialist and he has been under that treatment.

Miss Marie Peugnet, a daughter, said Thursday that neither her father nor any member of the family had held any communication with Mrs. Peugnet, who is at the Planters.

QUAKE AFFECTS WELLS.

Texas and Louisiana Fields Have Declined 45 Per Cent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 24.—The Texas-Louisiana oil fields have declined over 45 per cent in production since the Jamaica earthquake. Experts say the disturbance is responsible. Another strange feature is the oil has changed to a light yellow from a brownish black color since the quake.

The Texas fields experienced a frightful drop in production after the Valparaiso earthquake and never have regained in production. Since Thursday 17 producing wells have gone dry and the lake which appeared in the gulf after the Valparaiso quake has again maybe its appearance. Experts say the quakes release the oil lakes in the bowels of the earth and that new fields will be discovered.

SEWER GAS EXPLODES.

Shoe Workers Startled, but Sprinklers Quell Fire.

An explosion of sewer gas in a toilet room on the third of the Friedman-Shelby Shoe Co.'s factory, 3417 Locust street, shortly before 7 a. m. Thursday set the building trembling, startled 50 employes who were in an adjoining room, and started the automatic sprinklers to working. A still alarm was sent to Engine Co. 21, but on arrival the firemen found no blaze.

The gas exploded just before the whistle sounded for the beginning of work and only about a third of the 400 men and women who work in the factory had entered the building. The water from the sprinklers flooded stock on the first and second floors. The damage is estimated at $150. The gas is supposed to have accumulated in the drain pipes during the night.

GLASS MANAGER RESIGNS.

Francis A. Drew Quits Pittsburgh Company.

F. W. Currier of Minenapolis, Minn., Northwestern manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., will succeed Francis A. Drew of 3755 Lindell boulevard as manager of the St. Louis branch of the company. Mr. Drew has been manager of the local branch since the organization of the company 10 years ago. His resignation becomes effective March 1. He resigned Jan. 20 at a meeting of the managers in Atlantic City, N. J.

Mr. Drew organized a glass company bearing his name 26 years ago in St. Louis, and had built up a large business when the trust bought him out, making him manager of its local branch.

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

FREE DEMONSTRATION

of Healing Liquid X-Zalia

TO END IN GREAT TRIUMPH.

STILL MORE ST. LOUIS PEOPLE CURED OF

Mouth Sores, Running Sores, Pimples, Piles and all cases where the flesh is torn, bruised or diseased.

ST. LOUIS BABY CURED OF ECZEMA

Mrs. Geo. Locke, 1809 Cass Av., St. Louis, says: "My baby's scalp was in a fearful condition with eczema sores. I tried salves, but got no results. I used three bottles of X-Zalia. It healed the sores and restored the scalp to a healthy condition."

CATARRH CURED--Another St. Louis Lady

Mrs. F. W. Eling, 2835 Pine St., St. Louis, says: "I have suffered with head catarrh for two years. Nothing seemed to help me, and I grew steadily worse. I began to snuff X-Zalia up my nostrils, and from the very first it helped me, clearing my head immediately."

PIMPLES CURED--A ST. LOUIS LADY

Mrs. Forrest, 3427 Morgan St., St. Louis, says: "I got a bottle of X-Zalia to see if it could clear my face of pimples. I kept my face wet with X-Zalia as much as possible. Soon the smaller pimples healed and the larger ones are already disappearing, and I know I will soon be entirely cured."

SORE THROAT CURED--A ST. LOUIS GIRL

Miss Florence Wells, Suburban Park, St. Louis, says: "I caught a cold which resulted in such a sore throat that I could hardly speak. By gargling my throat with X-Zalia I got immediate relief and in a very few hours my sore throat was entirely gone."

ST. LOUIS MAN HEALS RUNNING SORE

John A. Sinclair, 4527 Clayton Av., St. Louis, says: "A wound on the back of my hand refused to heal and symptoms of blood poisoning set in. I came to the X-Zalia nurse and applied this healing liquid under her direction. The results have been wonderful. Within two days the inflammation disappeared and healthy flesh began to form on the sore. I believe that X-Zalia will do more than you claim for it."

Face Broken Out--Wonderful Cure in St. Louis

Miss Frances Kalney, 3935 Pennsylvania Av., St. Louis, says: "For three years I suffered with rose acne and my face has been in a terrible state. I have been using X-Zalia, and it is wonderful the way in which it has cleared my skin; taking away the redness and eruption. Nothing I previously used gave me any results whatever."

GUARANTEED UNDER THE U. S. PURE FOOD LAW 1907

And so it goes—This liquid heals any sore.

IN SOCIETY

Notices of social events intended for publication in the Sunday Post-Dispatch should reach the Post-Dispatch office not later than noon of the Friday preceding.

Mrs. George H. Shields and Miss Florence Streett received several hundred guests Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock at the Shields mansion in Delmar boulevard. The engagement of Miss Streett and Capt. George M. Shields, Jr., was announced during the holidays, the wedding date to be announced later. The hours being convenient, a number of men friends of Gen. and Mrs. Shields, Miss Streett and Capt. Shields called. The house was trimmed with spring flowers and Southern smilax.

Mrs. Shields' display of Colonial silver is conceded to be one of the handsomest in St. Louis, and much of it was used on the serving table, which was arranged with a low flat centerpiece of pink roses.

Mrs. Shields received in a handsome robe of brocade silk with lilac touches and ornamented with rare lace, which formed the short sleeves and berthe. A big belt bouquet of violets were worn and pink roses formed the bouquet.

Miss Streett, the guest of honor, wore a gown of white lace with pale primrose embroidery and carried white lilacs. Assisting at the serving table were Mrs. Albert Lambert, wearing white embroidered batiste; Mrs. Clark Streett in Havana brown chiffon; Miss A. C. Webb—was in orchid crepe and lace; Mrs. Durkee in champagne silk; Mrs. Carey Weisiger in white net and colonial bodice; Mrs. J. D. Streett wore black velvet and came without her hat. Some of the guests were: Misses Julia Reynolds, Marjory Ferriss, Jeanne Wright, Julia Maffitt, Alice Morton, Edith Delafield, Hazel Garrison, Sallie West Jackson, Blanche Turner, Virginia Thomson, Judith Oliver, Irene Catlin, Jessie Wright, Grace Semple, Agnes Delafield, Helen Treadway, Bessie Elliott, Caroline Runyan, Lentia Collins, Nat Thomson; Mmes. Virginia Wright, Shreve Carter, Charles Parsons Pettus, Horatio N. Spencer, Philip North Moore, Joseph Gilman Miller, George M. Wright, Franklin Ferriss, Cecil Gregg, Hudson E. Bridge, Goodman King, James Wear, Frederick Lehmann, Hinman H. Clark, Palmer Clarkson, Dexter Tiffany, Charless Cabanne, Thomas Shlinker, Peyton Shipwith, Campbell Smith, Rolla Wells, George Simmons, William C. Little, Wallace Simmons, Wallace Delafield, John O'Fallon, Edward G. Tutt, George D. Reynolds, George Carpenter, James Hopkins, Max Kotany, James L. Catlin, Alexander Cochran, Pierre Chouteau, Maffitt, Whitney Gaston, Edward Maillnckrodt.

Mrs. H. E. Farrell of 4443 Delmar boulevard entertained Wednesday afternoon at six-handed euchre. Mrs. Farrell's guests were club members of the Wednesday Card Club. Miss Emilia Farrell, the pretty schoolgirl daughter of the hostess, did the scoring. Miss Farrell will return to Maryville Convent early next week.

Mrs. George A. Held of Magnolia avenue issued cards for a coffee she will give at her home Tuesday afternoon.

The engagement of Edgar Floyd-Jones, formerly of St. Louis, and a nephew of Mrs. Lucy V. Semple Ames, who now resides in Brookline, Mass., and Miss Marie Zauck has been announced to St. Louis friends. The bride-elect is also a former resident of St. Louis.

Mrs. James Avery Draper of Wilmington, Del., is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Ford of the Buckingham Hotel. Mrs. Draper will be guest of honor at a large bridge whist party to be given at the Country Club by Mrs. Charles Espenschied and Miss Ruth Espenschied Jan. 30.

Mrs. George P. Jones will be hostess at a bridge whist party she will give at her Washington boulevard home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Kent Parker of New York is the guest of Mrs. Lawrence Hawk of 5843 Plymouth avenue.

Miss Marguerite Tower and her guest, Miss Webb of Baltimore, were guests of honor at a dinner given by Mrs. C. K. Dickson Walsh at the Country Club Wednesday afternoon.

Reductions on all tailored gowns. Silberstein's, 3830 Olive street.

STORERS TO RETURN SOON.

Going to Cincinnati to Meet Archbishop Ireland.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 24.—Orders have been received here by the agents of Bellamy Storer, former Ambassador to the court of Emperor Francis Joseph, to have his residence put in immediate condition for the reception of himself and probable guests. Mr. Storer stated in his advices to his agents that he intended to be in the city in a few days and would be here during the time His Grace, Archbishop Ireland, is in the city, Jan. 31. He is a G. A. R. chaplain, and intends to make an address at the reception which is to be held for the Commander-in-Chief.

It is said that Mr. Storer intends to take up the Storer-Roosevelt controversy with the prelate when he comes here. This statement was made by a friend of the Storers.

RECOVERS SPEECH.

Indiana Lineman Had Been Stricken Eight Months Ago.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 24.—Bernard Goudy, a lineman, eight months ago was on the top of a telegraph pole. He felt a tickling in his throat and when he reached the ground was speechless. Specialists treated him without success.

Goudy started out with a gang of linemen to make repairs near Lafayette. Without any more warning than preceded the loss of speech, his voice returned to him. His amazed companions heard him singing "Glory Hallelujah" from the top of the pole. He obtained leave of absence and will spend two weeks making up for lost time by talking incessantly. Goudy went to his home in Paxton, Ill., and astonished his relatives by calling them by name when he entered the house. He is 30 years old.

SEVEN FROZEN TO DEATH.

Men, Woman and Baby Wander From Canadian Train.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, Jan. 24.—The police of St. Boniface, across the river from Winnipeg, were notified yesterday that five men, a woman and a baby, all Galicians, had wandered out on the prairie from a stalled train near Starbuck and undoubtedly had been frozen to death. One man, the woman and her babe have been found. The adults are dead and the infant is dying.

Although searching parties are out, there is little hope of finding the others alive.

Saturday night, when the Galicians left the train, was one of the coldest of the winter. The thermometer fell to 40 degrees below at some places.

Wealthy Platte Man Weds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DEARBORN, Mo., Jan. 24.—Frank Drais was married Tuesday to Miss Chapple Yates, whose home is near Smithville. Mr. Drais owns several hundred acres of fine land in Platt County, and has a modern country home. Just east of this city. They expect to spend the remainder of the winter in California.

Will Accept Chicago Call.

Eating Carelessly

frequently causes stomach troubles, but careful eating will never right them. When your stomach is out of condition, it needs help that no food can supply. It must be thoroughly cleansed, settled and strengthened. Food never does this.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are the greatest stomach medicine human skill ever compounded. Don't attempt to cure your stomach by dieting. You will half starve and get little benefit. Give Beecham's Pills a chance and you will again know the pleasures of a sound digestion. Appetite will return and the stomach again work without any discomfort. The skin will clear, the face plump out, while people will remark "How well you're looking." These are facts, not fancies. Prove it yourself.

PLUCKS BABE FROM FIRE.

Mrs. Mary Von Winkle of 2409 North Whittier street and her 4-months-old baby, Mamie, are at the City Hospital, severely burned. The clothing of both was set on fire by the overturning of a stove, and Mrs. Von Winkle saved the life of the infant by tearing the burning clothing from it.

Mrs. Von Winkle, who is the wife of Edward Von Winkle, was getting ready to bathe the baby. Holding it on her lap, she poked the fire. A leg of the stove was displaced and it pitched forward, scattering coals on the clothing of both. Mrs. Von Winkle tore the burning clothes from the baby and ran with it in her arms to the grocery of Philip Braun. Mrs. Braun and William Hefner, who was in the store, smothered her own burning clothes. They were both taken to the City Hospital, where it was found that the baby's burns were severe.

DEWEY COUSIN PENNILESS.

Woman to Be Buried at Kentucky's Expense.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 24.—Penniless and deserted, Miss Sarah Dewey, first cousin of Admiral George Dewey, died Wednesday at Ewing. Less than two months ago residents of Ewing took up a collection of $20 to give the old woman the necessities of life and purchased her medicines. She will be buried in potters' field by the County.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch has over ONE-HALF MILLION more readers than any other newspaper west of the Mississippi.

SALESWOMAN SAYS TURK IS HUSBAND

WARRANT IS DENIED

Charge of Wife Abandonment Not in Jurisdiction of Courts Here.

By the little finger of Mohammed, Mrs. Ida Green, four hours after she had gone to work as saleswoman in a Broadway department store, recognized a man who came into the store to buy goods and claimed him as her long-lost husband for whom she had searched eight years.

Ever since she gave up snake charming as a steady employment Mrs. Green has been looking for a three-fingered Turk. Now she is sure she has found him and Thursday morning she went to the warrant office at the Four Courts to ask for a warrant charging him with wife abandonment.

Meanwhile the Turk, Mohammed Ben Hassan, a professional magician, smoked cigarettes in a cell at the Carr Street Station and laughed away his troubles. On the police blotter he was entered as plain Joseph M. Green, the name by which he was known to the woman who had him arrested.

Mrs. Green failed to obtain a warrant charging wife abandonment. At the offices of the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney and of the Circuit Attorney she was told that the matter was not within the jurisdiction of the Missouri courts because the alleged offense was committed in New York.

For three weeks Hassan or Green has been doing what he calls "stunts" at the Globe Theater, near Seventh street and Franklin avenue. He acknowledges that he knew Mrs. Green and traveled with her in the show business, but denies that they were married.

Mrs. Green is an energetic woman 5 feet tall and apparently in the thirties. Her hair and eyes are jet black and her chin is aggressive.

She Took a Day Off.

She has a three-room flat at 2111A Biddle street. A sign on the door says that furnished rooms are for rent, but that those desiring accommodations must call on Sundays or after 6 p. m. on week days.

Thursday was an exception to the rule. Mrs. Green did not go to work. She took a day off to press her charge against Mohammed.

She was excited when a Post-Dispatch reporter saw her at her home.

"Of course this man Green is my husband!" she exclaimed. "Don't I look like a sensible woman? I guess I ought to know my own husband. We were married in Rochester, N. Y., in 1891 by the Rev. Dr. Lewis. I haven't the certificate. My husband took that with him, but I have a letter from Dr. Lewis, in which he certifies that he married us. I can't show you the letter now, because I have it wrapped up to take to the warrant office.

"Green was in the show business when I married him. None of my family was ever stage struck, but he induced me to travel with him. I took up snake charming.

"We went out with O'Brien's Aggregation of Wonders, which had seven members. We furnished the side-show attractions for circuses and County Fairs. A man named Le Roy was the star of the show. He did a double turn as an Albino and a ventriloquist.

"Why, many a time I have stood out in the rain charming snakes, and running the risk of catching my death of cold, just to make money for this man Green.

"We had been married only three months when he left me. I went home to my parents at Rochester. I didn't hear any more of Green for seven years. Then he came to me when I was living in New York and I took him back. This time we lived together about a month and he went away again.

"I have been looking for him ever since. Three years ago I learned that he was in Utah and I wrote to him asking him to please send me a divorce. He replied that he couldn't do that, but that if I wanted a divorce I could ask for it in the courts. That letter is wrapped up, too. I can't show it to you.

"I haven't been in the show business for several years. I came to St. Louis about ten months ago and have been working in department stores.

"I got my position at the Schaper Bros. store at Broadway and Franklin avenue Wednesday morning. I went out for my lunch at 11 o'clock. I had just returned at noon when Green entered the store. Of course I knew him at once. He had shaved off his mustache, but he couldn't put back the little finger which was missing from his right hand.

"I walked around in front of him and I knew at once that he was my husband. He was buying black velvet to be used in his show.

"Gave the Old Name."

"Called a policeman and had him arrested. He gave the same old name that he used when I was with him in the show business—Mohammed.

"I am going to see this thing through. He can't get away from me. I have sent home for my father, Reuben Stone. He will come here and help me."

Mrs. Green went to the Carr Street Station Thursday morning, but she did not confront Mohammed. She remained there only a few minutes and then hurried to the warrant office carrying her precious bundle of letters.

Hassan is an undersized man, with a perpetual smile, a frock coat, a full dress vest and an opera hat.

He Is a Magician.

He says he is one of the greatest magicians in the world. "That is my main stunt, magic," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter before his release. "I have been on the bill at the Globe for three weeks and I've turned them away at every performance. I am on the bill under two names. As Mohammed I do feats of magic and as Armstrong I fill in with Pygmalion and Galatea stunt. I make a marble statue come to life. I can do that fine. If I wanted to I could use my magic and get out of this cell, but I wouldn't do it while charges are against me. It wouldn't be fair to the police. When I get out of here I'll let them put handcuffs on me and lock me in the jail. I'll get out and they'll never know how I do it.

"This charge, O, it doesn't amount to anything. I know Mrs. Green, but she isn't my wife. We just traveled together in the show business. There never was any marriage.

"Show people often have partners that way. She hasn't any marriage certificate or anything to prove her charge against me."

Mohammed says that he is a real Turk and that he was born in Constantinople. His hair is sandy and his eyes are blue.

SHONTS HERE EN ROUTE.

Verifies Resignation Report During Brief Train Stop.

Theodore P. Shonts passed through St. Louis en route to Kansas City late Wednesday night and while his train waited at Union Station, he verified the report of his resignation from the chairmanship of the Isthmian Canal Commission and his election to the presidency of the Interborough-Metropolitan Co., the Ryan-Belmont corporation which controls the transit lines of New York City.

W. Leon Pepperman, Shonts' secretary, who styles himself "the canal man," was spokesman for his chief. Pepperman stated that Mr. Shonts had retired as their train passed through East St. Louis, and could not be seen. A copy of the dispatch from Washington was presented to Shonts through Pepperman, who returned to say that the details were "substantially correct." Shonts' visit to Kansas City is to address the Knife and Fork Club there Friday night.

Wellston Line Demanded.

A resolution asking the United Railways Co. to restore the Wellston division was adopted at a meeting of the Twenty-eighth Ward Improvement Association at the Hamilton Hotel Wednesday night. President Charles F. Wenneker presided. A committee consisting of A. H. Frederick, Leo A. Landau, H. C. Clymer, Charles Niedringhaus and Joseph A. Duffy was appointed to present the request. Wilbur F. Parker, Waller Edwards and Ford Smith were named as delegates to assure the Million Club of co-operation and to express the appreciation of the association for the choice of Mr. Wenneker as president of the club.

YEATMAN CLASS GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Twenty-Four Young Men and Women Are Graduated Thursday Morning.

Twenty-four young men and young women, members of the January class of Yeatman High School, conducted the graduating exercises at the school at 10 a. m., Thursday. August George Nolte of the Art Course received the Washington University Scholarship. Oliver F. Peters was president of the class.

The program included music, songs and addresses by the graduates. The presentation of diplomas was made by George R. Lockwood, president of the Board of Education. Ben Blewett, assistant superintendent of instruction, opened the exercises with an address and George Platt Knox, principal of Yeatman High School, introduced the graduates to the Board of Education. Oliver F. Peters, class president, delivered the response on behalf of the class.

Musical and vocal numbers interspersed through the program were a choral by the class and the Orioles Glee Club, the "Bridal Chorus" by the club and graduates and "Loyal Song" by members of the class.

The graduates of the six classes are:

August George Nolte, Mathilda Frances Paubel and Louis Porri of the art course; William C. Hagedorn and Henry V. Schrauder, commercial course; Weaver C. Barrett, Emma Ray Bush, Cacille Elizabeth Harrs, James Lewald, Anna Katherine Metz, Oliver F. Peters, Louis Jackson Portner and Nina Scott, general course; Arthur H. Emig and Alexander Grosberg, scientific course; Susie G. Kirkner and Fred W. Hebberger, manual training course; Ethel W. Bloom, Elsa M. Detering, Charlotte Annette Yost, Olive Elizabeth Kraft, Orpah La Brier, Loretto McKye and Julia H. Somerlad, teachers' preparatory course.

Body Found in Quarry.

The body of Mathew Behn, who had been missing from his home for several days, was found in a quarry filled with water at the north end of the Columbia bottom, near the Columbia Bottom road. Behn was unmarried and lived about five miles north of the Chain of Rocks. It is thought that he fell into the quarry accidentally and was drowned. An inquest into the death was begun Thursday by Justice Ruegg of Black Jack.

Gives College $5000.

John A. Holmes of 9 Portland place, president of the J. A. Holmes Lumber Co., has added an additional $5000 to the fund being raised for the Lindenwood College to be established at St. Charles, Mo. This contribution brings the amount subscribed to $26,000, and work will begin as soon as $40,000 is raised. Mrs. William McMillan of St. Louis and Andrew Carnegie are contributors.

SHE PAWNS BODY TO AID FRIEND

Girl Gets $10 From Broker in Death Contract.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

"I, Dottie Morgan, of my own free will and without coercion of any kind, do hereby sell to Mose Levich my body, after death to do with as he sees fit, for a consideration of $10. The said Mose Levich shall not take possession of my body until after I am dead, and if at any time during my life I wish to cause this bill of sale to become null and void, and shall pay to Mose Levich or his assignees $10 in good and lawful money of the United States, his interest in my body shall cease. "DOTTIE MORGAN."

Dottie Morgan desired to raise $25 with which to bring a girl friend here from Council Bluffs, where she is dying with consumption. Miss Morgan had $15 and devised the above plan for raising the balance. She told the pawnbroker that the medical schools would give that much for her body in case she died before lifting the mortgage.

Levich told her that he would take her word for the money, but Miss Morgan insisted upon the instrument being drawn and signed. Miss Morgan is a modest appearing girl of 18 and works for a living.

COMPELS SNOW SWEEPING.

Proposed Webster Groves Ordinance Urged by Marshal.

The people of Webster Groves will watch carefully the hints of the weather man and have their shovels and brooms in readiness whenever he advises them of an approaching snowfall, if a proposed ordinance now being framed becomes a law. The measure, to be introduced on the advice of Marshal Nace, requires that householders sweep the snow from the sidewalks adjacent to their residences and places of business.

Marshal Nace says he has had great difficulty in keeping the sidewalks passable during the winter season. Unsettled districts will be swept by adjacent property owners if the measure is passed.

"FIRST IN EVERYTHING."

Only the Senate and a reform Governor now stand between Tubbs and the tip takers.

Stockraisers are considerably encouraged by the fact that after only 23 years a farmer has recovered damages for a bull killed on a railroad.

Prof. Osler may yet go to Alabama for his health. A State that has men 83 and 86 years old in the United States Senate uses very little chloroform.

THE CITY'S TRANSIT PROBLEM.

The Post-Dispatch has investigated the conditions of transportation on seven main divisions of the United Railways. The facts obtained through this independent investigation of the city's transportation system have been accurately and fully set forth in a series of articles in the Post-Dispatch. These facts are of prime interest and importance to the people of St. Louis, to whom the question of adequate transportation facilities is vital, and they clearly indicate two conclusions:

1. During the rush hours the capacity of the United Railways tracks on the loops and downtown streets is inadequate to accommodate public needs in street car accommodations.

2. At some points the lack of adequate accommodation is due to bad management or excessive economies.

Of course, bad management or excessive economy can be overcome by enforcing good management and liberal accommodations, but even if the management were approximately perfect, the service would still be inadequate on account of the limitations of space on the streets for the running of sufficient cars on the main lines. This essential obstacle to good service can only be overcome by new and improved methods of transportation. The additional facilities must be supplied underground or overhead.

Conditions of overcrowding now being irremediable at certain points, the situation must constantly grow worse unless additional facilities are provided for. With the city growing at its present rate, the outlook for street car facilities within five years is appalling. Within that time, St. Louis will have far outgrown the capacity of the present surface system.

In view of these facts, immediate preparation should be made to provide for the transportation of the people in the future. The Post-Dispatch believes that the right way to do this is to appoint a competent commission to examine the situation thoroughly and to report its findings and conclusions to the Municipal Government. The Municipal Assembly should provide by ordinance for the right kind of commission, empowering it to obtain facts, supplying it with the means necessary to do so, and requiring of it recommendations in the form of definite plans for the kind of transportation which it regards as best, the extent of the additional facilities needed and the conditions under which the lines shall be constructed and operated. If franchises are to be granted to private companies, the franchises to be granted and the terms under which they are to be granted, should be outlined by the commission. In short, the commission should be charged with the duty of thoroughly outlining the manner in which the city shall deal with its transportation problems.

UNTIL THE REPORT OF A COMMISSION OF THIS KIND HAS BEEN MADE, NO FRANCHISE WHICH WOULD COMPLICATE THE TRANSPORTATION SITUATION SHOULD BE GRANTED.

Woman suffrage in municipal elections has shown so good results in Kansas that the Governor of that State recommends extension. And it does not appear that the babies have been neglected.

TRAPS TO CATCH A MYSTERY.

Here and there, in the world's thought centers, scientists are setting traps to catch a mystery—the mystery of life.

There is Prof. Jacques Loeb, in Chicago, who is almost ready to announce that he has captured the secret in his culture jars and test tubes. There is M. d'Arsonval of the Paris Academy of Science, and there is Dr. Butler Burke of Cambridge University.

The latest and not least hopeful is Dr. Stephane Leduc of Nantes, who announces that he has actually produced artificial plants—not the kind made by girls in sweat-shop for millinery purposes, but delicate things that look like seaweeds and have cells which form stems, leaves and tendrils.

A recent issue of the Post-Dispatch told of Dr. Leduc's experiments, quoting him as saying that he was engaged in the study of biogenesis, or the spontaneous production of new life. The word should have been abiogenesis, which the Standard dictionary defines as spontaneous generation.

What the scientists are really trying to do is to generate life from lifeless material. The material used by Leduc in his test tubes was certain chemicals—sulphate of copper, sugar, ferrocyanide of potassium and common salt. When these are properly mixed the test tube containing the solution is placed before the lens of a magic lantern and the process of apparent creation—production of cells, stems and leaves, is shown on the screen.

The scientist is careful to rule out of these experiments any germs, seeds or spores of organized life, in order that he may be able to state positively that life has proceeded from the apparently lifeless, if he be successful in his experimentation.

But there is one fault in the reasoning, namely, the assumption that life does not exist in the chemicals themselves. What scientist can assert that chemicals, which have the power to form crystals of beautiful and varied form, each according to its kind, are lifeless? No true scientist would make such an assertion.

The probable outcome of the investigation will be to greatly enlarge our views of the possibilities of life and of the conditions under which it may arise. We can make those conditions, but life itself will always elude us.

Kansas City wants to be like St. Louis—a city that is in no county. But how is such a thing to be made clear to the masses? Many people still refuse to believe that St. Louis is not in any county, though the separation took place away back in 1875, and they are constantly demanding an explanation.

THE FREE BRIDGE BONDS.

Where able lawyers disagree on a legal question, it is hardly worth while for a newspaper to indulge in guesses. The Post-Dispatch therefore will not venture to determine whether or not the free bridge bond issue is valid, in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Chillicothe case; but we do say that the question of the validity of the bonds is of the highest importance and should be settled at the earliest possible moment. If the bonds are not valid, we will venture to say that the wording of the amendment to the charter involves an extraordinary blunder on the part of the City Counselor, and the lawyers who were advising the free bridge advocates.

If it should turn out to be a blunder, the blunder is most costly and damaging to the people of St. Louis. It postpones the building of the free bridge, consigns to the wastebasket all the money and labor that has been expended on the project up to date and gives valuable delay to the terminal monopoly interests. It puts off the day of freedom for St. Louis commerce.

The suggestion of a friendly suit to determine the question of validity seems to be the only satisfactory way to save the bonds from damaging discredit in the market. Both Judge Dillon and Comptroller Player incline to this course.

The evolution of the railroad pass into the regular ticket given statesmen admired by railroad companies seems to have been quick and easy.

A FIGHT FOR JUSTICE.

The Business Men's League of this city declared war on the opposition to the fair treatment of the Mississippi River between St. Louis and Cairo and the deep waterway from the Gulf, by resolutions requesting the St. Louis Congressmen to introduce two amendments to the rivers and harbor bill, as reported by Chairman Burton.

One amendment provides for an appropriation of $1,000,000 a year for four years, for the permanent improvement of the river between St. Louis and Cairo. The second amendment provides for an appropriation of $3,000,000 to begin the work on the deep waterway, between the lakes and the Gulf. The resolutions call upon the congressmen who desire the commercial prosperity of the Mississippi Valley to vote and work for these two amendments.

This step has been made necessary by the intolerable situation in the House, where two men—Chairman Burton, backed by Speaker Cannon—assume to decide arbitrarily, without regard to the sentiment of the other members of Burton's committee, or of the members of the House, that river improvement of vital importance to an enormous section of the country, shall practically be ignored. In view of this tyrannical attitude on the part of these two men there is nothing left for the people of the Valley and their representatives in Congress but to fight for their rights and interests. It must be demonstrated to these men that they cannot ignore vital interests of such a vast and important part of the United States and of its progressive population.

Every member of the House should be made to line up on this issue of the interests of the people of the Mississippi Valley against the interests of corporations and localities which oppose their just demands in the Senate.

Senators Warner and Stone of Missouri and the senators of other states in the Mississippi Valley have an opportunity to do conspicuous good service for their constituents by fighting in the Senate for a just recognition of the Valley's needs and demands.

If assessors are to have access to all safe deposit boxes, other places of concealment will have to be invented. The tax dodger will probably "find a way."

ARE THEY CIRCUS BEARS?

What are we to expect at Jefferson City after a favorable report has been made on the "Jim Crow" foolishness for Missouri railroads?

Are we to have separate street cars also for the different shades of color in the races? If so, why not separate streets?

When the Tubbs "anti-tipping" bill passes the House by a vote of 86 to 39 and the result is "received with cheers," what is to come next in the way of circus performances?

Will it be made a felony for a Missourian who has been "shown" at Jefferson City to give a nickel above card prices to the boy who polishes his boots?

What are the two dignified bears on the shield of Missouri going to do about the "salus populi," if this is to be the sort of "fiat" the Legislature gives them? Are they to be exhibited in ring performances as mere circus bears?

TILLMAN SIMPLY TILLMAN.

From the Atlanta Constitution.

The attitude of Senator Tillman in regard to this Brownsville affair is inexplicable on any other ground than that it is simply Senator Tillman. He has sought to oppose the views and feelings of the people throughout the South, his own State included, whom he is supposed to represent, and joining with those who are antagonizing the President in this matter, principally for their own political ends, to make a mockery of justice.

POLITICAL AEROSTATICS IN MISSOURI

A Post-Dispatch Cartoonist's Idea of the Condition of Some Well-Known Aeronauts.

JUST A MINUTE

With Post-Dispatch Poets and Humorists

HE NEVER LOOKED UP.

He rushed to a seat in the masculine style,
And oodles of ladies came in after while
To hang on the straps and to stand in the aisle.
But he never looked up.

He stole a sly glance from the tail of his eye,
A glance very covert and wondrously sly,
To see if acquaintances any were nigh,
But he never looked up.

From under his hat he could plainly discern
A lady upstanding with bundles to burn,
And others about her at every turn,
But he never looked up.

They crowded him some, and a bundle, indeed,
So covered his paper that scarce could he read,
And the woman who did it seemed never to heed,
But he never looked up.

He caught a soft voice that was soothing and sweet:
It said, "The poor men, they're so tired on their feet
With working all day, they should ride in a seat,"
But he never looked up.

He heard a sharp voice with the edge of a knife:
It said, "How a man with a daughter or wife
Can make us stand up, I can't see on my life,"
But he never looked up.

He thought him of Beggs and the hardness of Czars,
As pitiless they and as cold as the stars,
And he wondered why people can't have enough cars,
But he never looked up.

He pictured the man as of marble and grim,
And he passed the whole burden of blame on to him,
But his conscience still hurt, and his comfort was dim,
So he never looked up.

FROM TEXAS.

AUSTIN, Jan. 23.—The first Republican voice ever heard in the Texas House of Representatives was sounded yesterday, when one of the two Republican members of the Lower Assembly arose to nominate somebody or other for United States Senator.

Startled by its own sound, the voice repeatedly fled back to the throat from which it was projected, leaving the speaker apparently gargling for insipient tonsilitis. Too timid to launch out into that thoroughly Democratic atmosphere without first trying the ice, the voice cracked badly, giving the spokesman the seeming at times of being a broken-down lyric tenor negotiating the perilous curves of "In the Shade of the Sheltering Palms." Too unused to the place to venture far from home on the first time out, the voice was rarely projected beyond the speaker's lips, giving him the appearance of being a man engaged in the selfish pastime of talking to himself.

However, what he was saying was not important, and all he expected of the effort was the congratulations of the other Republican member of the House, which was all he got.

LOVE AFFAIRS OF FAMOUS MEN

Written for the Post-Dispatch

BY NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

JOHN RUSKIN'S SACRIFICE.

JOHN RUSKIN, author of "Sesame and Lilies," "The Seven Lamps of Architecture" and other words which many persons of discernment rave over and some others leave respectfully alone, was not half so original in his works as in his life.

He had several love affairs of very pastel coloring before the great romance of his life began with his marriage to Euphemia Chalmers Gray and ended with her divorce and second marriage to the great painter, Sir John Millais.

The most important of his preliminary love affairs was best told by Ruskin himself. The heroine, Charlotte Withers, "a fragile, fair, freckled, sensitive slip of a girl about 16," was on a visit to his parents' home.

"She was," Ruskin wrote, "graceful in an unfinished and small wild flower sort of a way, extremely intelligent, affectionate, wholly right-minded, and mild in piety. An altogether sweet and delicate creature of ordinary sort, not pretty, but quite pleasant to see, especially if her eyes were looking your way, and her mind with them. We got to like each other in a mildly confidential way in the course of a week. We disputed on the relative dignities of music and painting, and I wrote an essay nine foolscap pages long, proposing the entire establishment of my own opinion, and the total discomfiture and overthrow of hers, according to my usual manner of paying court to my mistress. Charlotte Withers, however, thought I did her great honor, and carried away the essay as if it had been a school prize. And, as I said, if my father and mother had chosen to keep her a month longer we should have fallen quite melodiously and quietly in love, and they might have given me an excellently pleasant little wife, and set me up, geology and all, in the coal business, without any resistance or further trouble on my part. When Charlotte went away with her father, I walked with her to Camberwell Green, and we said good-by, rather sorrowfully, at the corner of the New road; and that possibility of meek happiness vanished forever. A little while afterward her father 'negotiated' a marriage for her with a well-to-do trader, whom she took because she was bid. He treated her pretty much as one of his coal sacks, and in a year or two she died."

Though his first love was a child for whom he wrote ponderous essays, Ruskin married in 1848, when he was 29 years old, the girl for whom he devised his first fairy story.

Euphemia Gray was an extremely statuesque beauty whom he met at a ball and whom he admired about as he might St. Paul's Church or Lincoln Cathedral. Soon after the meeting he proposed, and she accepted him, though the feeling on neither side was stronger than friendship. Marriage did not strengthen it, and when Ruskin brought the handsome young pre-Raphaelite painter, John Millais, to his home to paint Mrs. Ruskin's portrait the result was swift and inevitable. The artist and his sitter fell in love, and being honest and unconventional, they told Ruskin about it. The latter met the situation as few men have ever done. He promptly secured the annulment of his marriage, and at the wedding of his ex-wife and Millais, which followed immediately, he gave the bride away.

This action was as bizarre as that of any Bernard Shaw hero and has a prototype only in the astounding romance of Richard Wagner, of which more later.

THOUGHTS ON BUSINESS

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By WALDO PONDRAY WARREN.

OPPORTUNITIES THAT WAIT.

NAPOLEON could have had an automobile. The principles upon which it is constructed have always existed. If men had known enough to apply those principles then, the best type of modern car might have glided down the streets of Paris a century ago. Hot water made steam back in the carboniferous age. Plato might have had a telephone, Alexander a phonograph, Cleopatra a steam yacht and the speeches of Cicero might have been printed in a daily paper.

During the coming centuries many inventions will be made—but the principles upon which they are to be constructed are in existence right now, awaiting perception and application. And every improvement that will be made in every line of work—art, manufacture, commerce, agriculture, physics and metaphysics—will merely be the discovery and unfoldment of facts that exist now.

Think of this whenever you begin to feel that you have reached the limits of development in any line of work. If the present condition seems dull, think deeply and draw upon the reserve fund of things yet to be done.

MUST HAVE FLAGS AT DINNER

IN these days of international entertaining it behooves a giver of dinner parties to lay in a supply of flags and onther patriotic emblems. One of the new conceits is to adorn the table with pennants and flags in lieu of flowers. When Mrs. Root gave a luncheon for Mrs. Lee, wife of Maj. Lee of the British army, her board was brave in Union Jacks, lions and unicorns. At each end of the table, flying from silver staffs, were the Stars and Stripes and the flag of Great Britain. Small flags were waving from banks of American beauties and red carnations. If a hostess have a representative of a foreign government at dinner party she must show his colors somewhere in the table decorations.—New York Press.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(This column is open for discussion of public questions. Letters must give name and address of writer and should not exceed 150 words. Names will not be published, if so desired.)

Praise for "Old Maid."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Because of Col. Harvey's merciless attack upon "old maids," a noble unmarried woman having devoted her young life to her mother says, "I know now that self-sacrifice is folly." "Justice" followed the dictates of her conscience and her reward will come in due time. The thought of having done so should be a consolation to her even though she now feels her loneliness. To remain single to escape the responsibilities of married life is certainly reprehensible, but to remain single as "Justice" did is commendable. CONTENTMENT.

Semi-Monthly Paydays.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that the State Legislature is in session debating various bills, why not have a law placed on the statute books compelling all railroads and other corporations in the State to pay their employes semi-monthly. Many employes are compelled to continually borrow money in advance of their salary. Being paid twice each month would better conditions all around.

Speed of Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

City ordinance No. 20,536 restricts the speed of automobiles to eight miles when being driven on the city streets, and further restricts them to a speed of six miles per hour when driven in the parks of the city.

City ordinance No. 21113, approved April 4, 1903, relating to the speed of cars on the surface street railways restricts the speed of such cars to ten miles per hour when propelled or drawn within the districts bounded by the Mississippi on the east, Grand avenue and its prolongations on the north and west, and Arsenal street on the south, this district being known as the Central District, and it further provides that cars propelled or drawn outside of said Central District shall not be propelled or drawn at a speed in excess of 15 miles per hour.

Street cars are permitted to exceed the speed limit, whereas automobiles are not allowed to exceed the speed limit fixed by the ordinance except with the danger of the driver of the automobile being arrested and fined. Why this discrimination? VAL.

Common Sense Speed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There are foolish persons who own automobiles and foolish persons who do not own them. Those who own them are both the old and young who, because they can, travel fast without thought or regard for the rights, safety and welfare of others. If this class of automobilists which breeds the other class, viz: those who want to prevent, under any conditions, owners of automobiles from running over eight miles an hour.

Automobiles in the hands of the ignorant are dangerous, but where the owner displays a full regard for pedestrians he should be permitted to travel at a fair speed between blocks, and especially on country roads. What's the use of rapid possibilities if people are not permitted to enjoy or take advantage of them? JOHN WILLIAMS.

Some Muddy Streets.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

R. T. Kebonial writes the Post-Dispatch of the filthy streets downtown. I wonder what he would say if he would come and see such as Shaw avenue, Pattison avenue and King's highway boulevard? Wagons are stalled every day. They go down to the wagon box in mud. RESIDENT.

Suggests Movable Sidewalk.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have watched the discussion of an Elevated Road versus a Subway in the Post-Dispatch with considerable interest, and believe with Mr. Beggs that the subway should be constructed by the city of St. Louis.

But has the idea of a moving sidewalk been suggested?

Would it not be cheaper for the city and more convenient for the public? If not, why not? L. C. GILBERT.

Indorses Fractions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I wish to say in answer to "A Mother" in the Post-Dispatch that I have a little daughter attending a public school in North St. Louis who doesn't know what you mean when you speak of "tables" as tables, but who knows up to 6's. It seems to me that the teachers in the public schools have chosen the proper way to teach fractions. Begin early and administer in small doses. I know more than one person who can rattle off tables up to the 12 times 24, who couldn't add three small fractions together if their lives depended on it. ANOTHER MOTHER.

C. H. D.—To remove white stains from mahogany, take a small flannel rag and dip it in alcohol just long enough to dampen it slightly. Rub it on the spot for a moment. Have another rag ready which has been dipped in olive oil. Rub this thoroughly upon the disfigured place. Be careful not to rub too long with the alcohol, or you will run the risk of making the spot larger than it is. Follow the rubbing with alcohol immediately with olive-oil treatment.

J. G.—Emerson says of love: "No man ever forgot the visitations of that power to his heart and brain which created all things new; which was the dawn in him of music, poetry and art; which made the face of nature radiant with purple light, the morning and night varied enchantments; when a single tone of one voice could make the heart bound, and the most trivial circumstance associated with one form was put in the amber of memory; when he became all eye when one was present, and all memory when one was gone."

INQUIRY COVERS FEES COLLECTED BY MULVIHILL

Committee Has No Record of Interest Obtained by Commissioner.

ACCOUNT NOT REQUIRED

Beer Inspector Marshall Obeys Higher Law, Gives Up All Money.

EXPLANATION BY WORNA

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—One of the things Excise Commissioner Mulvihill will be requested to explain when the Senate Committee begins an investigation of his office in St. Louis Saturday relates to the fees collected by Mr. Mulvihill for saloon licenses. It appears that during 1906 Mr. Mulvihill collected $47,028. He turned this money into the State Treasury in the form of monthly remittances, but there is no record of any interest that he may have received pending such monthly settlement.

While there is no law requiring the Excise Commissioner to account for the interest he may have derived on the receipts of his office, yet the law makes no provision for his compensation outside of his salary of $5000 a year.

Ernest Marshall, State Beer Inspector, is operating under a law similar to that governing the Excise Commissioner's office. His salary is $3000 a year. With no statutory provision applying in his case, Marshall remits to the treasurer each month the interest he receives on moneys deposited with the bank. To Mr. Marshall's credit, it may be said, that he is the first beer inspector who has ever voluntarily agreed to do this.

State Treasurer Gmelich, who is looking into this feature of the affairs of the State offices in St. Louis, said that he had talked the matter over at length with Mr. Marshall one day.

"How is it," asked Mr. Gmelich, "that the Factory Inspector, the Coal Oil Inspector and the Excise Commissioner do not turn their interest collections into the treasury?" asked Gmelich.

"I don't know," replied Marshall. Gmelich then said he did not understand why Mr. Marshall did not emulate the example of his predecessors.

Higher Law, Says Marshall.

"There is a higher law," replied the Beer Inspector, "than that on our statute books. In my conscience I felt that I had no right to this money. Of course, it would amount possibly to several thousand dollars during my entire term of office. But I haven't any right to it. The law says I shall receive a certain salary, and that ends it."

The records of the Treasurer's office show that Mr. Mulvihill collected the following fees on saloon licenses during 1906: January, $7131; February, $10,617; March, $1333; April, $1542; May, $1398; June, $1425; July, $1527; August, $15,513; September, $1745; October, $1653; November, $1680, and December, $1416.

Under the law Mr. Mulvihill is required to remit to the treasurer on the first Monday of each month. Hence all money received the day after that remittance is held until the following month and is deposited in one of the St. Louis banks, which pay 2 per cent on daily balances. Some of the banks, the legislators understand, pay 3 per cent if the account is a large one.

It is not supposed that the interest in the Excise Commissioner's case would amount to a considerable sum, but it is said to be sufficient to convince the committee that it should be one of the subjects of the forthcoming inquiry.

Senator Mayer of St. Joseph is chairman of the committee that will probe the Excise Commissioner's office. A count of noses shows that the committee is about evenly divided between Folk and anti-Folk men. The inquiry will be held Saturday, instead of Monday. The most pronounced Folk man on the committee, Senator Wornall of Clay County, is the man who, when he was being examined here, questioned Mr. Mulvihill in reference to his attitude toward the Democratic ticket in St. Louis at the November election.

Mr. Wornall today requested the Post-Dispatch correspondent to make this explanation of what followed:

"In the course of our inquiry," said Senator Wornall, "Mr. Mulvihill made the statement that he had voted the Democratic ticket in St. Louis for 22 years, but that in the last campaign he felt impelled to scratch two of the Democratic legislative candidates. I answered Mr. Mulvihill with the remark that in my county we voted the Democratic ticket from top to bottom. By that I did not mean to say that we supported unfit candidates for public office. On the contrary I would not consent under any circumstances to give my aid to an unworthy candidate.

"I reminded Mr. Mulvihill that we nominated clean tickets before we sought the support of the people, and I desired to impress upon him the necessity of the St. Louis Democracy doing the same thing.

Duty at Primary, He Says.

"In other words, if Mr. Mulvihill and other good citizens will do their duty when the party holds its primary election, then there will be no need of bolting the ticket at the general election."

It is probable that more than fifty witnesses will be examined in the Mulvihill investigation. Chairman Mayer is receiving letters every day in reference to the Excise Commissioner's office. Some of them are in the nature of complaints, while others commend Mulvihill because of his drastic enforcement of the Sunday Gramlich law. A number of small merchants, chiefly those engaged in the cigar business, are among those who protest that, because their business is placed at the entrance of saloons, are deprived of selling their goods on Sunday, even though they erected a partition between their places and the saloon.

BABY GIRL WINS A NEW HUSBAND FOR HER MOTHER

Joseph Whyers of Edwardsville Chooses Wife From Scores of Answers to Ad.

SONS WISH TINY SISTER

So Father Wooed Mrs. Josie Miller, Who Had 16-Months-Old Daughter.

HAPPY IN NEW HOME

Bride Says She Likes House and Thinks She'll Love Husband.

Mrs. Josie Miller, a widow with a little girl 16 month old, who lived with her sister at 822 Tyler street, St. Louis, was the successful contestant for the hand of Joseph Whyers, the Edwardsville coal miner, who advertised for a fifth wife a few weeks ago. After a two-days' courtship Whyers' intensely practical romance culminated in his marriage in Edwardsville to the St. Louis widow Tuesday afternoon.

The baby girl was the one consideration above all others that riveted the attention of Whyers upon the St. Louis widow. Whyers' three sons, who had been taken into their father's confidence in regard to his quest for a wife, decided before they had ever seen Mrs. Miller that she was the one woman out of the hundreds who answered the advertisement who could fill the place of mother in their home.

"Get Mrs. Miller, dad," they told him. "She's the woman we want for our mamma. She's got a little girl, and you know we always wanted a little girl in our home."

Thus spurred on Whyers came to St. Louis last Sunday and met Mrs. Miller in the Tyler street home. He got there early in the day, and lingered until 9 or 10 at night. When he left he had agreed with Mrs. Miller that he would meet her at the Interurban Station at Venice Thursday and they would go to Edwardsville and get married. Mrs. Miller, with baby in her arms, kept her appointment, and so did Whyers. They were married at Edwardsville by Judge Hillskoetter.

Boys Like New Step-Sister.

Whyers took his bride home and introduced her to his three boys, Eldred, 16; Joseph, 14, and George, 8. They almost tore Baby Lillie from their new mother's arms and did everything in their power to please the little girl.

Whyers fourth wife died Nov. 7. He found his home going to rack for want of the care of a woman. At first he advertised for a housekeeper, but none applied. He then decided to break up his home and go to boarding, but the boys objected. They suggested marriage. Whyers concluded to try again. He advertised in the Post-Dispatch for a wife, and got bushels of letters. Where no one wanted to undertake the duties of housekeeper, hundreds were willing to marry him.

Mrs. Josie Miller was one of the "early birds." She was attracted by the advertisement and answered it. She told Whyers all about herself, and particularly about her baby girl.

Whyers read all the letters he received to his boys. They discussed the qualifications of each applicant in a practical, matter-of-fact way. The question of sentiment and love did not enter into the discussion. When Whyers read Mrs. Miller's letter, and her description of Baby Lillie, the boys told him that he need look no further.

When Whyers got to St. Louis Sunday he found his way to the Tyler street address with some difficulty. He had the names of other St. Louis widows on a slip of paper and intended to call on them if Mrs. Miller failed to come up to his expectations. He found her to be a buxom widow, 33 years old, unusually kind. She told him her husband, Alexander, had died 15 months ago, while they were living in Venice, Ill. She had since worked in hotels to make a living for herself and baby.

Whyers and his fifth bride appeared to be perfectly happy Thursday. He was at work in the yard, cleaning up the rubbish that had accumulated during the past few months, and she was in the house "tidying it up."

One of her first duties after her marriage was to burn up the mass of letters that Whyers had received in answer to his advertisement. There was almost a bushel of them. She read some of the letters with much interest and amusement, and thought herself fortunate to win a contest in which so many eligible applicants had entered.

The fifth Mrs. Whyers has pale blue eyes, brown hair and pleasant features.

"I am entirely satisfied with my bargain," she told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Of course, I haven't had time yet to find out whether I shall love my husband. We did not have time to consider that matter and we concludued to marry first and love afterwards. I am delighted with my new home and the boys have received me so kindly that I am sure we shall all get along very pleasantly."

Baby Lillie was tugging away at her new papa's slipper and cooing cheerily.

"I agree with all she said," Whyers added. "I am very well pleased and the boys are delighted. They did not want me to marry a woman with large children because they said they would be all the time fighting. But they wanted the little girl and they've got her, bless her little heart."

ALTON WATER VERY THICK.

Mud Due to High River Drowning Out the Filter.

Alton is in sore straits for water. The high stage of the Mississippi River has stopped work on the filter in process of construction, and the only water available for drinking, cooking and washing is pumped directly from the turbid stream.

The quality of this water is such that it is not good form to ask persons to have a drink of it. Altonians speak of eating their water. Laundresses are in distress because they can't do their work, and the persons they work for are still more distressed because they confront a dearth of clean linen.

Whisky is taken straight without a "chaser." When a man doesn't wash his face but once during the day he feels under no necessity of apology.

The river fell three inches at Alton Wednesday night, and it is believed the unpleasant conditions will be relieved soon.

FAITHFUL TO "GANG" EVEN ON DEATHBED

William Gagel, When Asked Who Shot Him, Smiled and Would Not Tell.

WAS SURE OF REVENGE

He Knew That His Friends Some Day Would Demand a Life for His Life.

Obeying the unwavering rule of the "gang," of which he was a member, William Gagel, an ex-convict, died at the City Hospital Wednesday night without revealing the name of the man who had shot him.

Gagel, who was 36 years old, was shot during a fight Jan. 15 in the headquarters of the "Jolly Five" Club, 1506 Morgan street. Eight members of the same gang, who witnessed the shooting, were arrested and "sweated," but not one of them would say who did the shooting.

Gagel was told at the City Hospital that he would die from his wound and asked in the name of justice to tell who fired the bullet. Sometimes he replied that he did not know. Again he would tell the police with a smile that they need not bother themselves to find out that he knew who the man was and would get even without the aid of the law. He insisted that he would recover and added that if he didn't his friends would take care of his case.

The police finally charged the shooting to Thomas Eagan, a Deputy Constable, but they admitted that the evidence against him was very weak. They learned that Eagan had been in the clubroom at the time of the shooting, and, as he was not there when the police arrived after the shooting, they concluded that he had fled to avoid arrest. Eagan is out on a common law bond. He denies that he shot Gagel, and the police have no witnesses who say he did.

Had Been in Penitentiary.

Gagel had been out of the Penitentiary only a few days when he was shot. He was convicted in 1895 for killing John Caples, one of Senator "Snake" Kinney's "Indians." He never would have served time for that killing, the police say, had it not been for the fact persons other than members of the gang saw the shooting.

Somebody will have to pay for Gagel's death, his friends say. That is the law of the gang. Gagel's friends will "get" the man who "got" him. They may not do it for a year or years, but they will do it sooner or later, and the police admit they cannot prevent it.

Perhaps Gagel was shot for killing Caples, or maybe it was because a friend of his had killed someone else or betrayed a member of the gang. The police may accidentally find out who killed Gagel, but the motive they will never learn. That is a secret, as well as the identity of the murderer, which is locked securely in the minds of the "gang." The police have become so accustomed to dealing with members of this gang that whenever one of them is shot or cut the police entertain no hope of finding out through the gang who committed the assault. Betrayal is the greatest evil forbidden by the unwritten law of the gang. Any one of them would rather go to the Penitentiary than have the name of being a "snitch."

William Bracken and Edward Glebe, members of the Jolly Five Club, are under indictment by the Grand Jury in connection with its investigation into Gazel's death. It is charged that they said they were not present when the fight in which Gagel was wounded took place, while James Brennan, another witness said they were.

ENJOYABLE BANQUET.

Southwestern Mercantile Association Installs Officers.

The Southwestern Mercantile Association held one of the most successful and enjoyable annual banquets in its history Wednesday night at Benton Park Hall. The members and guests present numbered 200.

The new officers were installed by Prof. Charles H. Kreh, one of the members. They are: William J. Hartig, president; O. J. Gossrau, first vice-president; C. W. Hayner, second vice-president; O. F. Karbe, secretary; O. F. Fischer, treasurer; Len A. Holdenried, financial secretary; Mr. Wirtz and W. P. Mueller, sergeants-at-arms; William G. Berg, John T. Nolde, H. Hoyer, George J. Glassbrenner, H. J. Rube, Dr. O. F. Fischer, Matt Kreidel, S. J. Anderson, Ben Dunske, William A. Esterl, William J. Hartig, O. F. Karbe, board of directors.

The retiring president, H. J. Rube, under whose administration for two years the association has been exceedingly prosperous and useful, and Otto F. Karbe, who has served long and faithfully as secretary, were presented with handsome gold mounted umbrellas.

Addresses were made by President Hartig, Dr. WJ McGee, W. N. Aubuchon, John T. Fitzsimmons and others. Mr. L. D. Goodman was the toastmaster.

UNDERWOOD CO. VICTOR.

Wins Decision Sustaining Claim to Gorin Tabulator.

After many years of litigation, the Underwood Typewriter Co., formerly the Wagner Typewriter Co., has obtained a decision in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals sustaining its claim that the Remington Typewriter Co., in using what is called the Gorin tabulator, has infringed upon its patents, and also that the Underwood, in using the Gathright invention, has not infringed upon the Schulte patent, owned by the American Machine Co. The case is of extraordinary importance and the outcome will have far-reaching effects.

When the Underwood typewriter came on the market it had incorporated in its machine a device invented by Joseph B. Gathright, known as a "tabulating mechanism." Soon after the Remington Typewriter Co. made an attachment to its machine, known as the "Gorin tabulator."

This caused the Underwood to bring suit against the Remington, claiming that the device was an infringement upon their tabulator. Soon after this, the American Writing Machine Co. started a counter suit against the Underwood, claiming that the Gathright invention was an infringement on the patent owned by them and issued to one Schulte.

The Underwood machine is today recognized as the best, fastest, most reliable and durable machine on the market, and the fact that the United States Circuit Court of Appeals has sustained the company's patent rights in such a conclusive fashion, places it in a more commanding position than ever before.

HONESTY NEEDS NO CONSPIRACY, DECLAIMS HOWE

Republican City Chairman Denies Agreement With Attorney-General Hadley.

NOT AFTER STATE POWER

Says He Has Work in City and Is Friend of Chairman Niedringhaus.

FAVORS CITY CONVENTION

Declares He'll Quit if Good Men Aren't Named for House of Delegates.

Jeptha D. Howe, chairman of the Republican City Central Committee, denied emphatically Thursday that he had entered into any understanding, agreement or conspiracy with Attorney General Hadley by which Howe is to be made chairman of the Republican State Committee and Hadley nominated for Governor in 1908.

"It is not necessary for honest men to conspire to do good," said Howe with declamatory effect. "They don't have to have agreements and understandings. Hadley and I are good personal and political friends. But there is absolutely no understanding between us for mutual promotion of our own interests. I have no ambition to become chairman of the Republican State Committee. I am trying to do some work in St. Louis and until that is accomplished I cannot turn aside from it.

"I am on the best of terms with Chairman Thomas K. Niedringhaus, and never once thought of entering into any manner of understanding with anybody to succeed him.

"I have no understanding with a living soul in regard to any political matter," he continued. "I have no understanding with the City Committee, the Advisory Committee of 200, or any other political organization."

The Republican City Committee held a meeting Wednesday night at headquarters in the Equitable building. The question of whether candidates for the House of Delegates will be nominated by convention or primary has not been decided. Chairman Howe favors the convention plan, but says that he will abide by the will of the Committee.

Ban on Political Assessments.

It has been decided by the Committee that no appointed employe of the city shall be subject to political assessment for campaign purposes. The Committee has also decided to make no recommendation to the Circuit Judges relative to the appointment of a successor to Justice John J. Kirby, who died last week.

A meeting of the Committee of Two Hundred has been called for Jan. 30 at the Missouri Athletic Club. This Committee will discuss nominations for the House of Delegates and other matters pertaining to municipal government.

"I don't know," said Howe, "whether the committees will finally determine to nominate House of Delegates' candidates by convention or ward primary. But I do know this: unless the party nominates a good clean ticket, that I can conscientiously ask the public to support, I will do as I did in the Talty campaign; I will step out and have nothing to do with the campaign.

"I am in favor of the convention plan. The primary system of nominating candidates has been tried for 20 years and it has been demonstrated that it is an utter failure as a means of nominating good candidates.

"The ward committeeman, who appoints the judges and clerks, has absolute control over the nomination. Some of these House of Delegates' candidates have been known to spend as high as $2000 to win this nomination. What chance has a good, honest business man, for instance, in a contest with a politician of that kind? The politician will beat him every time. But the politician can't win in the convention, because the Advisory Committee won't endorse him, and the convention will not stand for him.

Decries Home Rule Argument.

"It is a difficult matter to induce capable men to run for office against ward politicians. They don't want to spend the money and they don't want to undergo the humiliation of defeat under such circumstances.

"The advocates of the primary system say that the convention plan deprives them of home rule. This contention is not worthy of serious consideration, because St. Louis is the home of every member of the House of Delegates and every vote he casts in the municipal assembly affects the interests of the entire city. All the people in St. Louis are interested in the nomination of a good ticket for the House of Delegates.

"To this end it is desired that everybody interested in good municipal government suggest the names of men who would make acceptable candidates either to the ward organizations or the city committee. Nobody has any selfish purpose in mind except in a few instances where committeemen are in league with men who are not fit to represent St. Louis in the House of Delegates.

"We want to bring out the very best material in every ward, and the Republican organization and the committee of 200 will appreciate suggestions from all classes or persons. These committees realize that they are dealing with public matters, not personal ones, and they desire to take the public into their fullest confidence.

Elected Officers Must Pay.

"The City Committee has decided to levy no political assessment on any municipal employe for this reason: We want those appointed men to feel that proper public service is all that is required of them for retaining their positions. Of course this non-assessment plan does not apply to the elective officers. They ought to help support the party. Being elected and not appointed they occupy positions from the nature of which it would be impossible for any political organization to coerce them into paying assessments. The appointed officer is in a position where he might be coerced into paying the assessments, which have heretofore been about ten per cent of his salary.

"The Advisory Committee of two Hundred will attend to the question of campaign finances."

Dr. F. O. Blattner of the Fourteenth Ward headed a delegation which called on the City Committee Wednesday night in the interest of John Haenter, who aspires to succeed the late Justice of the Peace Kirby. The committee, after deciding to take no action relative to the appointment of a Justice of the Peace, declined to take up the matter with the delegation.

MACKAY CONTROLS BELL HOLDING CO.

Wall Street Surprised to Find Him Biggest Telephone Stockholder.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—In listing the stock of the Mackay companies on the Stock Exchange today, it was revealed that the company is the largest stockholder in the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and the Bell holding company, besides having stock holdings in a large number of important subsidiary Bell concerns. That the Mackay companies had acquired a large holding in the Bell company was shown in the last annual report, but that it was the largest stockholder came as a surprise to Wall street.

More than $9,000,000 has been expended for this control.

Of the Bell subsidiaries, the Mackay companies have stock in the Buffalo, Canada, Missouri, Philadelphia, Bell, Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph, Hudson River, Michigan State, Missouri and Kansas, Nebraska, New England Telephone and Telegraph; New York and New Jersey, Pacific States, Pennsylvania, Pioneer Telephone and Telegraph; Rocky Mountain Bell, Southern, New England, Tri-State Telephone and Telegraph, and Western Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Of the cable and foreign telegraph systems owned by the Mackay companies, these are the most notable: The Commercial Pacific, Commercial of Cuba, Direct West Indies, Direct United States, Great Northern of Copenhagen, Halifax aand Bermuda companies, Deutsche-Atlantishe Telegraphen, Gesellschaft, Mexican Telegraph, Montreal Telegraph and Western Telegraph Co. of London.

BEGS TO STAL IN CELL.

Wife Pleads to Be Locked Up to Soothe Husband.

It required all the tact and diplomacy of the Jailer and other officials of Belleville Wednesday to keep Mrs. Mary Mackerel and her baby 3 months old out of the calaboose, where she wanted to remain to comfort her husband, John Mackerel of O'Fallon, Ill. Mackerel is charged with shattering a mirror in the saloon of John T. Martin and of having helped to assault William H. Johnstone, Martin's bartender.

Mrs. Mackerel, who was at home when her husband was arrested, declared that she intended to go wherever he went. On their arrival in Belleville, Mackerel was arraigned on the charges of assault and malicious destruction of property. Failing to give bonds of $300 in each case, he was committed to jail. The Jailer waited respectfully, but the wife declined to leave the cell until repeatedly urged to do so.

LOOK! HERE'S HEDGES WITH THE REASONS WHY TEAM WILL WIN

Forecasting for Baseball Season Is on in Ernest and Bob Attempts to Prove That He Has the Goods This Time.

ST. LOUIS BOWLERS NEUTRAL

IT IS absolutely essential this time of the year for the captains of the baseball industry to do some talking. Something has to be done to keep up the interest in the ball teams and about the only thing to be handed out to the fans, via the newspapers, is conversation of more or less doubtful value.

Contracts are sent out to the players to be signed at different times. It wouldn't do to send them all out at once, for they might all come back that way. Under the present system they return day after day, making a new piece of news—heaven save the mark—each time.

Then, too, a new player is signed from some of the smaller organizations and as soon as he arrives in town he is brought around to the newspaper office by the manager or president to have—while he nervously mops a minor league brow with a major league arm—his picture taken.

And then the last, but not least, of press agent stunts is the forecasting of the finish of the coming season's race with the home team featured as having at least a half nelson on the flag.

"New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, with the Browns either one, two or three is the way I figure the American League race for 1907," said Robert Lee Hedges, president of the Browns, yesterday.

"I honestly think that we have a good chance to win the pennant. If we do not finish at least second or third I will be greatly disappointed. In former years we may have had close and exciting series to decide the championship. Nothing in the past will begin to compare with the close struggle for the flag this season, in which at least six of the eight teams in the league are dangerous.

"Philadelphia I place so well because of the fact that in Plank, Bender and Waddell the Athletics have three of the greatest pitchers in the country. Then a lot of new material will be tried out and if any of it makes good Philadelphia is going to be a mighty strong contender. Yes, I placed Chicago where I think they will finish. Enough said.

"Last year about this time I told you that we would finish one, two or three. It's no use bringing up a string of 'ifs' now. We failed to get the show money. Consider one thing: Bobby Wallace and Howell were both out of the game at the same time, Wallace with a twisted toe and Howell with a split hand. The whole truth was, we were not favored any, to say the least, by numerous bad breaks.

"Hemphill, Niles, Rickey, Pickering, Stone and Delehanty are about the fastest men in the game on their feet. They can all hit th ball. They have the speed, and many a bounder that should be an out will result in a base hit because of speed. All over the country they are talking about the speed of the Browns.

OWNS UP TO A WEAK SPOT

"Our weak spot? Well the only thing I would like just now is a couple of slashing left hand pitchers. We need them. Jacobson is a left-hander. Chriss of Waco and Faris of St. Paul and Dallas are southpaws also. I am hoping that at least one of the trio will strike a winning streak early in the season and stick to it. The race this year is going to be a terrific one from start to finish. Give us just one good left-hander and we will get off good and keep in front all the season. Just an even break in luck is all we ask."

All of the Browns are scheduled to report in St. Louis on the last day of February. On March 1 the entire squad, about 335 strong, will leave for San Antonio. Although Mr. Hedges has not made definite arrangements with President Stanley Robison of the Cardinals, he expects the spring series of seven games with the Cardinals to open on March 30 at Sportsman's Park.

The Chicago White Sox, world's champions, open in St. Louis. This will mean a mint to the Browns. Chicago plays its opening home game against the Browns in the Windy City. Hedges should make enough money on the baseball season to get Harry Niles, his aeronaut, to inflate their balloon for the big race with the aroma from a smouldering heap of Uncle Sam's paper, or gold certificates.

It will take some good playing on the part of the new recruits to the Browns' staff to land a permanent position on next year's team.

Tom Jones is sure to be at first base. At second base it is almost certain that Harry Niles will be the man selected to act as side kick for Boby Wallace at short. Pete O'Brien, Butler, the Akron (O.) youngster, who is supposed to be a wonder, and Rockenfield are three men who will try hard to prove that they are better qualified to play second than the speedy Niles.

Jim Delehanty is generally expected to make good at third. Somehow his name sounds so good that Hartzell is hardly given a chance to beat him out of the place or for O'Brien to pick up in his batting in which case Delehanty might lose out.

Delehanty is at present at his home in Cleveland. He has not signed a contract as yet. Hedges is not in the least worried. He declared that Delehanty is satisfied with the contract offered him and that he will surely report for the spring training trip.

Powell, Pelty, Howell and Glade, of course, will be the mainstays of the pitching department. Glade was married a short time ago and declared that he would not return to play baseball. Hedges, smiles and says he will and the chances are at least about 5 to 2 that Fred will again be in a Brown uniform inside of five weeks. Jacobson may also cut loose and do wonders. Then there is Morgan, Compton, Farris, McGill and Chriss, who will be given every opportunity to make good. McGill is a big husky fellow who is at present at San Antonio. Hedges has heard a great deal about him and Manager McAleer will watch his work closely.

Jack O'Connor, Rickey and Spencer will be back at the same old stand, behind the batter. O'Connor has already started to get in trim. Spencer should be able to gauge his throw down to second this season. "Hackenschmidt" can heave a ball about to the bases about as hard as any man in the business. All he needs is simply to steady himself for an instant and to throw accurately and the man that steals a base on him will have to move like a streak.

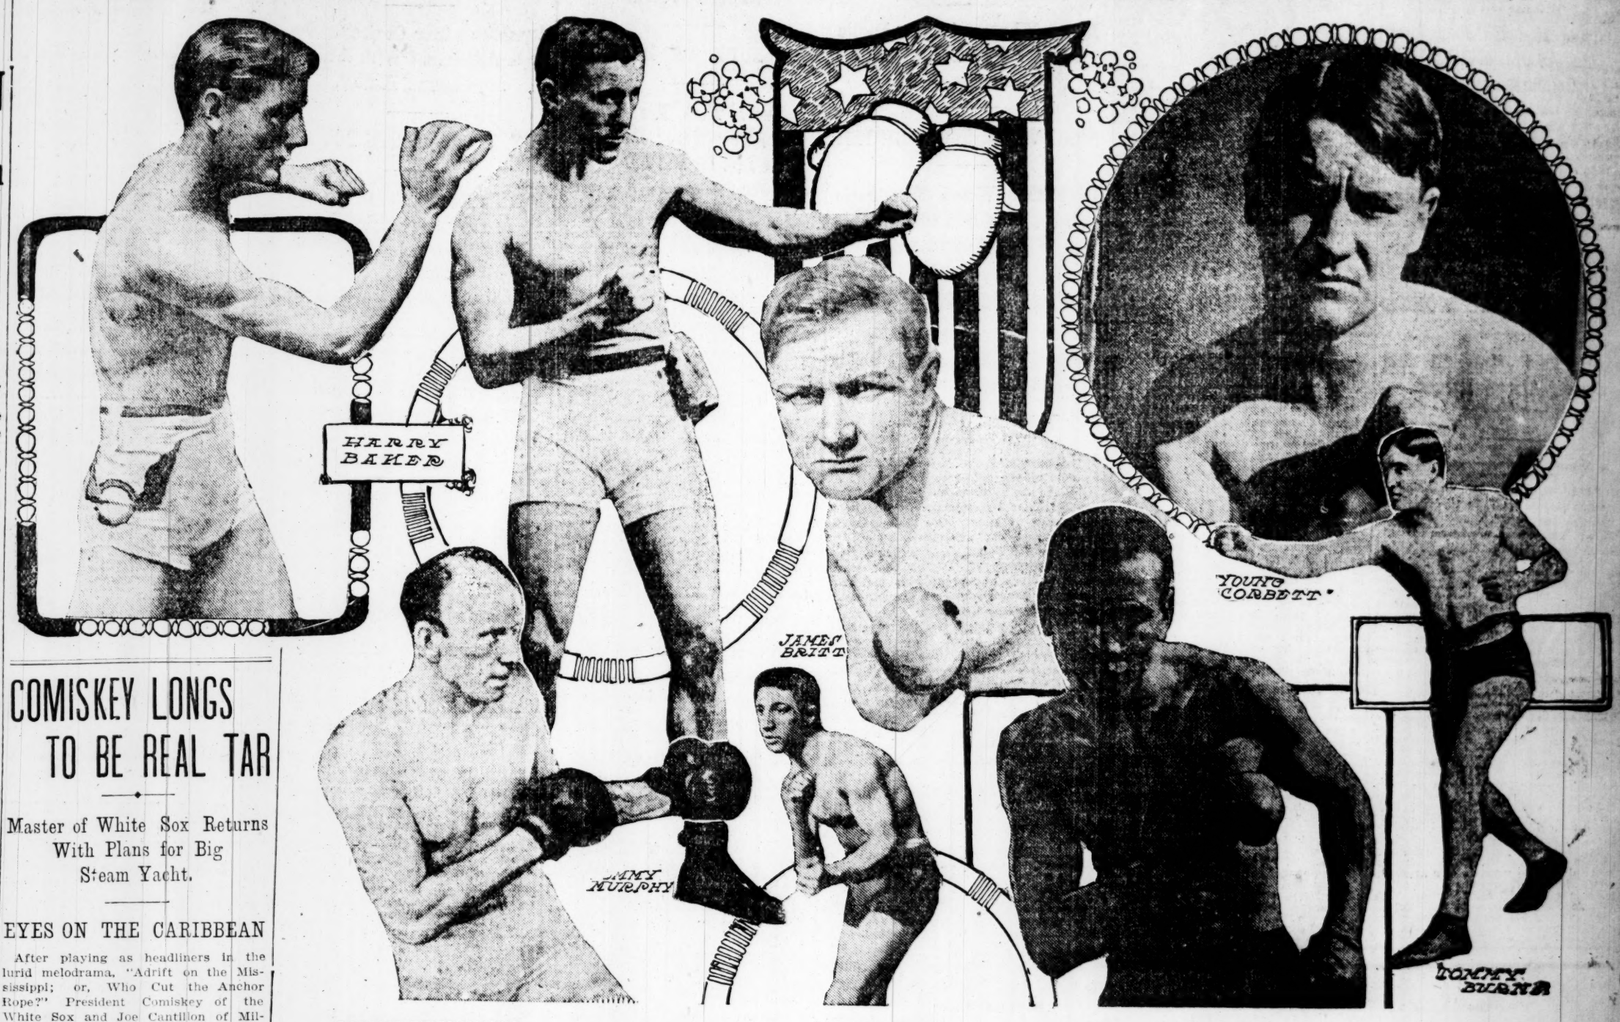

Stephens of Dallas, so far as his ability to catch is concerned, is one of the nine wonders of the world, if reports of his playing from Texas can be believed. The Texans who have watched Spencer and Rickey in their games at Dallas last year say that neither is in a class with Stephens. Baseball is a very queer proposition. Stephens may be all that is claimed. A few cannon balls delivered by "Red" John Powell might make him start on a hurdle race with the lowest point in the fence as the first obstacle to be cleared, however.

ST. LOUIS BOWLERS REMAIN NEUTRAL

On the eve of a great national meeting, it is gratifying to learn of the neutrality declared by the St. Louis Bowling Association in the campaign now on for next year's presidency and tournament. Certain unavoidable bitterness of feeling has already been engendered between Cincinnati and the eastern cities on the one hand and St. Paul, Chicago and other cities of the western division of the A. B. C. circuit. I regard it as a highly diplomatic stroke, this policy of leaving the strongest delegation of the meeting uninstructed, and one that is bound to win favorable comment everywhere.

St. Louis bowlers are the hosts and every other city is a guest and therefore possessing equal right to share in the good things prepared for the entertainments of what will undoubtedly be the greatest gathering of bowlers in the history of this great winter sport. By declaring itself the local association could turn the balance in favor of either city or personal aspirant and it would follow that St. Louis organizers would become the pivot upon which the issues of the meeting would turn, but I hardly think even the growing popularity of the organization would be sufficient to clear its skirts of the charges of bias and partiality which would follow.

COMISKEY LONGS TO BE REAL TAR

EYES ON THE CARIBBEAN

After playing as headliners in the lurid melodrama, "Adrift on the Mississippi; or, Who Cut the Anchor Rope?" President Comiskey of the White Sox and Joe Cantillon of Milwaukee-Minneapolis-Des Moines-Chicago-Washington arrived in St. Louis yesterday with Charley Spink and other St. Louisans from their little hunting trip. The Chicago outfit left immediately for the Windy City.

Both, each and all, had harrowing tales of hardships and luck well raised and served hot. The bunch of faithful who met the admirals were not kept busy picking feathers off the chinchillas, and it is surmised that the real hunting will be done along South Water street, as usual, in Chicago.

Being buffeted on the bosom of the "father of waters" by the angry floods served the purpose of making a real deep-water sailor out of the "Old Roman," while Cantillon's language has already a salt flavor. It all resulted in President Comiskey sending in an order for a boat over twice the length of the present White Sox, with a steam boiler and a smokestack with red rings on a white background. It will be a seagoing craft which will be able to stand the blow on the stormy Atlantic or the petulant gulf waters.

Commy Has a Craving.

Back of the plans for the giant successor to the good ship White Sox lurks an unsatisfied ambition of the master of the Sox. One is that of being able to entertain all his friends in a bunch without having to put out the gangplank in relays. The other and real secret for an ocean-going yacht is that "Commy" has designs on those rowdy little republics of Central America, not to mention Cuba, Porto Rico and other island possessions.

Comiskey has heard that the natives of Yucatan, Honduras, Venzuela and other of the night blooming republics on the Carribean need instruction in America's national game and that they are willing to pay for the tuition. As he has the world's champions on his payroll his friends have urged him to get an earlier start next year, make a triumphal tour of Southern countries, whether he can fly the championship flag at the masthead or not.

"Gee, wouldn't that be a sight to sneak into one of those countries," said Commy, "with a world's championship flag under the Star Spangled banner. I guess we would at least get a General's uniform apiece, with a swell chance of becoming the fighting navy of the whole outfit. The more I have thought of it the better it looks, and I guess it should be an incentive to the boys to get in their best licks during the real battle season next summer. Besides I might get some pointers how to treat the umpires."

The plans for the new craft, coming down to figures, call for a steam yacht a good deal over 100 feet long, capable of weathering storms on lake, river or ocean. After Comiskey had the White Sox made he discovered it would be a risky thing to enter the Gulf, and consequently he determined to secure a boat that will be second to none.

On the Magnates' Trail.

"I don't know whether or not mine will be in the same class with those of Roger's, Morgan's, Lawson's and the other magnates," said Comiskey, "but when I get it ready I may turn in Florida keys and go up along the Atlantic Coast to investigate. That Central American and Cuban trip certainly looks good, and it will be me to study maps and ocean charts these winter evenings. I shall probably invite the American League magnates to make the White Sox II. their headquarters and I hope that we can hold the annual meetings on board. It will give John I. Taylor, Frank Farrell, Ben Shibe and those other sea sharks a chance to show off, but the first man who runs the good ship aground will have to buy."

In coming down to more ordinary topics Comiskey asserted that the party had had a grand time hunting and trying to keep from capsizing into the Mississippi. They got seem enough to stuff two mattresses with feathers, which afforded some comfort, while camping in the woods. Comiskey found no contracts awaiting him, but is not worrying any.

Joe Cantillon was gradually getting to be himself again after part of a night spent on an island with Charles Schaefer and with the water steadily rising. They were finally rescued after the two had contemplated how long each could hang onto the highest branch of the tallest tree.

WEST DOES NOT WANT CORBETT AT ANY PRICE

Tonopah Club Will Not Match Little Fighter With Herman or Anyone Else, but will Hold Big Carnival.

BY ROBERT EDGREN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Mr. Noonan of Tonopah dirfted into my workshop yesterday afternoon. I was just about to begin drawing, but on seeing who was there I laid down the hoe and shook hands. Mr. Noonan, straight from the world's fight center, wore a soft felt hat and had a wholesome out-of-door air about him that reminded me of the good old days when I used to chase jack rabbits out of the prospect holes in the morning myself.

Jack Noonan, being interested in the renaissance of the fighting game, had all the news.

"We are getting careful about giving big purses for fights," he said. "We're still ready to offer the big stack for anything good, but no more lemons! We'd like to see Kid Herman fight some good boy in his own class out in Nevada, but the fight with Gans was really a joke. Herman didn't have a chance on earth. Still, he's very popular."

"How about Corbett and Herman or Corbett and Murphy?" I asked.

Mr. Noonan just smiled. "Why," he said, "we offered $7500 for Murphy and Herman, but Herman's head seems to have become a little enlarged. He turned us down. He regards himself as the late contender for the world's championship, and doesn't see where he comes in to fight a newcomer for a little purse like $7500 after fighting Gans for $30,000."

Does Not Want Corbett.

"But Corbett?"

"Not at any price," said Mr. Noonan, emphatically. "We would not offer any purse for Corbett and Murphy or for Corbett and Herman. We don't want Corbett. He wouldn't draw thirty cents. We lost enough money on Gans and Herman. From this on we're looking out for the business end. No more lemons. Wolcott seen Corbett whipped too many times out on the coast. He may have come back, but he can't come out and prove it at our expense. Let him go and show that he can fight somewhere else. Then he may be a card.

"We've seen him whipped by Eddie Hanlon, Herrera, Britt, twice by Nelson, and last of all, he little Dick Hyland. Corbett is no use to us. Murphy beat Corbett here. Even that does not make Murphy a big drawing card as far away as Nevada. But we'd give him a chance to show what he can do. He may be a good boy."

"How about your proposed carnival?"

"That'll be the greatest ever," answered Jack Noonan. "We are going to pull off three big finish fights besides the preliminaries. They will take up two or three days. Jimmy Britt will fight Gans. Let me tell you right here that Britt is the only lightweight on earth that can draw with Gans now. All Frisco looks on Britt as the man to trim Gans. They swear by him. With Britt and Thomas fighting Gans and Mellody we expect at least two thousand people from San Francisco. The Olympic Club members will come on to the fights in a body. They'll all back Britt. Gans is surely a wonderful man of his weight but lots of people I know of would be there with the Britt end.

As to Mellody and Thomas.

Mellody and Thomas have not yet accepted our offer. We want Mellody. But Thomas, weighing 158 pounds at the time, knocked out Mellody a few months ago. Mellody demands that Thomas weigh in at 142 pounds ringside, the welter limit. Thomas offers to make 144, and there is a deadlock. They may split the difference and leave the title out.

"We haven't decided on the heavyweight contest. We've been after a match between Gans and O'Brien. In fact, we offered a $30,000 purse for it. Gans is willing, but insists that O'Brien must weigh in at 154 pounds six hours before the contest. O'Brien is willing to make it 158 under the same conditions. They both want the money, but neither one will give in on the weight; so that's practically off."

Tommy Burns is tired of theatrical life. Tommy does not fall for the enticements of the foodlights and the attentions turned his way only bore him.

When seen last Saturday night Tommy declared that he would "cut it out and go back to fighting."

Tommy had a black eye, a cut on one eyebrow from a butt and two very sore hands.

"Look at me," he said. "I never got cut up like this in my life. I have to try to box without getting any damage. If I do all the landing it looks bad, so I have to let the other fellow land on me once in a while. When I try to box without hitting hard it throws my boxing all out and if I keep this up long I'll be losing everything I ever learned about fighting. I'm through. No more theatrical engagements for me."

If Tommy does cut out the theatrical thing it will be the wisest move he ever made. Stage boxing has spoiled more fighters than old John Barleycorn ever knocked out. It destroyed the fighter by turning him into a showy boxer.

CAN SULLIVAN MAKE WEIGHT?

IS NOW AT 133 POUNDS

Whether Abe Attell has put "Brooklyn" Tommy Sullivan, boxing instructor of the Missouri A. C. in a hole, or Sullivan succeeded in placing the wily Hebrew in a position far from being to his liking will be determined inside of the next couple of days, when Tom McCarey, manager of the Pacific A. C. of Los Angeles, tries to get the men to sign articles of agreement for a 20-round fight to decide the featherweight championship.

Last night Sullivan received a telegram from McCarey offering him a match with Attell. McCarey, however, stipulated that Sullivan must weigh 122 pounds ringside. Sullivan pondered long and deeply. He has been after Attell for a match for the championship for almost a year. Once he went to Chicago to see Attell, but Attell skipped.

But on the other hand, Sullivan at present weighs 133 pounds. Not a day passes that he does not box eight or ten rounds at least. He, therefore, must be in pretty good shape. He did not know whether he could possibly take off 11 pounds. He knew that he would weaken himself to a considerable extent. Sullivan consulted several of his friends. Finally he reached his determination in his own mind in a hurry, and said: "I'll accept it. I don't think that Attell will meet me under any conditions. I know that I can beat him, whether I am weak or strong and he knows it. He told his friends that I had it on him and that he would never fight me again. He thought that I would refuse to make 122 pounds and then could crow about that I was merely fourflushing when I said that I wanted a match.

SPORTING NOTES

THE RESPONSE of horsemen to the Coney Island Jockey Club stakes was a royal one. From all parts of the country owners sent nominations to this $25,000 stake, and the entry list stands today with 70 names of the greatest three-year-olds in the land. This season's crop of three-year-old colts and fillies is the most promising one that the eastern turf has had for many years.

AN ADDITION to the speed automobile race, which the French Government, after hesitation has again authorized for 1907 the Automobile Club of France has arranged to have two other big races during the present year. One will be an auto-wagon contest of 4000 kilometers to be divided into relays of 200 kilometers a day. The second will be a test of doctors' cars to develop the features of cheapness of cost and economy of operation.

WOMEN'S TOURNEY NEXT ON PROGRAM

GOOD TWO-MAN SCORES

None but the Executive Committee of the St. Louis Bowling Association will ever be able to tell the arduous details of the work required to bring a city tournament of 90 five-men team entries and more than twice that number in singles and doubles, to a successful terminus, without having the slightest hitch to mar the program. But three more events have yet to be put on at the De Soto alleys and the biggest city tournament St. Louis ever saw in tenpins will have been ended and a dozen or more, weary but enthusiastic officers, will turn their attention at once to the coming meetings for the bowlers of the State and nation.

But when the tournament closes on the De Soto alleys the women bowlers are not through. Ten teams are entered for the first women's tournament ever planned so far as is known. Fred Langenberg of the Palace alleys is the promoter of this latter contest and he is doing so at the earnest solicitation of the women themselves, those interested in bowling having for the greater part, attended the men's tournament and taken a few pointers on the running of a big city contest.

The women's tournament will be run on the same principle as the men's contest and Mr. Langenberg is confident of doubling the present entries. This would bring the number of entrants to 20 five-women teams, 40 two-women teams and 50 individuals. Miss Birdie Kern, champion of the world, and her mother, Mrs. Martin Kern, will bowl togethen in the doubles and Miss Kern will enter in the singles. Mrs. M. A. Phillips, wife of the first vice-president of the American Bowling Congress, will also bowl in the singles.

The two-man teams of the city tournament did themselves proudly in the Wednesday night session. All culled some good scores, the evening's work being capped by Masson and Bell with 1145 pins flat with a handicap that boosted their total to 1178. Bell cleared 603 of these. Masson had several bad breaks and quit at 542.

Trailing only four pins behind the leaders came Sickmeier and Gust with 1174 with their handicap. Glorious and Stone rolled 1160. The majority of the two-man scores were over the 1100 mark, which is considered excellent work.

Memo was the one consistent bowler of the singles. Finishing off his three games with 195, 196 and 197 scores, with a handicap of 25 pins, he easily finished high for individuals at 588 for total.

$12,000 GOES TO TERRY M'GOVERN

Every Class of Business and Society Thronged in the Benefit Meeting.

PROGRAM WAS IGNORED

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Yesterday penniless and his family dependent upon charity, Terry McGovern, the cleverest little lightweight fighter who ever donned the mitts, is today worth $12,000, as a result of the benefit given at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. Men from every class of life mingled with the crowd that poured into the tiers of seats at Madison Square, and everybody subscribed to the fund, from the youngest member of the smallest athletic club to the wealthy Wall street broker.

The program of the evening was broken in upon by the audience, who wanted to hear about the object of their presence and cared but little about the boxing bouts and other numbers arranged for their amusement.

BROTHERS-IN-LAW IN A FIST FIGHT

Alexander A. Eberson and Moses L. Wieder Exchange Blows on the Street.

Alexander A. Eberson, a paint manufacturer, and Moses L. Wieder, brother of his divorced wife, whom Eberson is alleged to have pelted with balls of money in the course of their married life, were released on bail following a fist fight. They will be tried in the City Hall Police Court next Wednesday on cross charges of disturbing the peace.

The fight took place Wednesday afternoon on Fourth street, between St. Charles street and Washington avenue. Several blows were exchanged. Wieder was knocked down and suffered the loss of a tooth and a cut on the nose. The men were separated by bystanders and taken to the Chestnut Street Police Station. They were released shortly afterwards on bonds signed by S. G. T. Smith.

Eberson is living at the Washington Hotel. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he asked Wieder what he had meant by an unpleasant statement to a friend concerning himself. Eberson said that the other made no reply, but reached toward his hip pocket. Eberson grabbed his opponent's hand and struck him. He states that Wieder bit him.

Wieder told the police that Eberson came up to him and asked: "I understand you are looking for me." Then, he says, before he could answer, Eberson hit him in the face.

Mrs. Eberson obtained a divorce from her husband and $10,000 alimony about a month ago. Wieder, her brother, is a lead merchant, living at the Monticello Hotel.

THIS GRADE CROSSING REMAINS SOURCE OF PERIL BECAUSE HOUSE OF DELEGATES DELAYS LEGISLATION

TO PAY BIG DIVIDEND.

Metropolitan Life Co. to Distribute $2,000,000.

A $2,000,000 dividend to all policy holders has been declared by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. for the year of 1907. This company, which has always been noted for the liberal policy on which it is managed, has already distributed in dividends to its policy holders about $10,000,000 in the last eight years, and the new dividend of $2,000,000 will bring its voluntary disbursements to policy holders up to the immense sum of $12,000,000.

Among the many benefits of the Metropolitan is the liberty which is given to all policy holders over 80 years of age, who have paid premiums for 15 years or more, to receive the face value of the policy in cash, or a full paid-up policy. In financial circles this action is looked upon as marking a new era in life insurance history.

HOUSE DISREGARDS CHILDREN'S PERIL

Delays Fyler Avenue Bridge Bill, Passed by Council, Six Months.

PUPILS GO UNDER CARS

Residents Can Now Get Neither Legislative Nor Court Relief.

Since July 9 last, when bill No. 111, requiring the Frisco Railroad to construct a wagon and footbridge across the tracks at Fyler avenue, was unanimously passed by the City Council, residents of Greenwood, Lindenwood, Hardem Place and Gratiot, have been endeavoring to get the Public Improvements Committee of the House of Delegates to report the bill, favorably if possible, that some action might be taken.

In the event that the bill is passed by the House of Delegates, the construction of the new bridge will begin at once. If it is killed, the residents will again proceed at once to attack the Frisco through the city courts for obstructing the grade crossing at Fyler avenue. The House's present inaction prevents either course.

Several years ago the Frisco lowered its tracks in the southwest section of the city, and at Fyler avenue they were depressed four feet. This rendered impassable Fyler avenue, the only public street adjoining Greenwood and Maplewood with Lindenwood and Gratiot.

Residents of that section immediately complained to the city, and the Frisco built a high foot bridge diagonally across Fyler avenue, approached on one side by 50 steps and on the other by 25 steps. This bridge was so high that a man standing on a freight car passing underneath it could not touch it with upstretched arms.

Crawled Under Cars.

Rather than walk across this high bridge, children would crawl under the cars. This practice, an extremely dangerous one, still prevails, in spite of the efforts of parents to stop it.

During the time they pass the tracks on the way to and from school, many passenger and freight trains pass.

This matter was taken up by a body of residents headed by Isaac Brown, of 6649 Marquette avenue, and E. W. Gruner, of 7090 Hancock avenue. They solicited the aid of City Attorney Arderson, who instituted prosecutions against the Frisco Railroad Co., in Judge Tracy's Court for violation of the city ordinance.

The Frisco was fined $50 for maintaining a nuisance and obstructing Fyler avenue with freight cars. The tall footbridge was removed from the street, but is still standing 70 feet south of the crossing, with approaching steps unattached.

Mr. Anderson followed this action by filing daily informations which, if sustained by the courts, would have caused the Frisco to pay $50 each day, but the Frisco asked for an injunction. The Circuit Court granted a temporary injunction, which still exists.

City Counselor Bliss brought suit against the Frisco in the Circuit Court to compel the railroad to restore the grade crossing at Fyler avenue by raising its tracks to their former level. The suit was continued, as the Frisco's attorneys reported that an effort was being made to adjust the matter with the city officials.

Agreement Was Reached.

As the outcome of these suits, the officials of the Frisco and the city met with the Board of Public Improvements and an agreement was reached whereby the Frisco was to construct a 20-foot wagon and foot bridge over Fyler avenue, crossing the tracks, build retaining walls and raise the street to the River des Peres wagon bridge, at an estimated cost of $37,000.

The Board of Public Improvements introduced the terms of the agreement in Bill No. 141 to the City Council. Councilman Cramer, the chairman of the Railroad Committee of the Council, resides in the Twenty-fourth Ward, in which Fyler avenue is located, and knew and appreciated the necessity of this improvement. After an investigation on the ground, he, with Messrs. Linde and Rolfes, reported favorably and the bill was passed by the Council unanimously July 9.

The bill was received by the House of Delegates, and six months has lapsed since it had its first public reading, which was before the adjournment for the summer vacation. It had its second public reading when the House reconvened, Sept. 12. Instead of the Railroad Committee, as in the Council, the Speaker of the House referred it to the Committee on Public Improvements, which consists of Fred Wiedmer, chairman; Ross Hallock, C. H. Witthoefft, George Kollas, W. C. Zimmermann, T. Moloney and E. P. Bentley.

Only Two Opposed.

Mr. Hallock, member from the Twenty-fourth Ward, was called upon by the committee of citizens and assured them that the bill should have his support. After the vacation a public hearing was granted by the House and a large delegation from the community were present, all favoring the bill.

A private hearing was granted the opposition, which consisted of two residents of Gratiot, who reside one-half mile from the street in question. They were J. B. Bendick, a saloon keeper at Scanlan and Frisco avenues, and Bob Frank of Scanlan avenue. Bendick now enjoys a large traffic past his corner, which the bridge would tend to lessen.

The public hearings came to an end some three months ago. Hallock has been called upon to explain the reasons for the delay. At a meeting of the Twenty-fourth Ward Improvement Association, presided over by Attorney E. C. Crow, Hallock was called upon from the floor for such an explanation.

He said that the other members of the committee were trying to kill the bill and that he was trying to prevent this. He said the committee was against the bill because the grade was too heavy.

ST. LOUISANS TO STUDY HOW TO FLY IN AIR

Two Professional Men Going to Paris to Qualify as Balloon Pilots.

NAMES NOT GIVEN OUT

Must Make Ten Ascents, Two of Them Alone and One of Them at Night.

Two St. Louisans will leave for Paris at an early date to take a thorough course in ballooning, that they may qualify as pilots. Their names have not been made known, but club members say they are professional men.

The fact that three St. Louisans are planning this trip to Paris to learn aerial navigation was made known at the St. Louis Aero Club's headquarters. It was at first reported that Albert Bnd Lambert, president of the Lambert Pharmacal Co., would make the trip. Mr. Lambert denies this.

"Two members of our Aero Club are going to Paris, however," said Mr. Lambert. "It was at first planned to hire an aeronaut, but our civic pride made such a course undesirable. We realized that we must have a St. Louisan in control of the balloon which represents this city. Two volunteered to go abroad and learn the art of managing balloons.

"It will take a couple of months to acquire the information and make the ascents necessary to qualifying as a balloon pilot. One must make 10 ascents before he wins the coveted honor. Two of these ascents must be alone, and one of them at night."

To Name Cup Defenders.

It was announced in New York Wednesday by the Aero Club that the committee empowered to appoint the American defenders of the James Gordon Bennett cup would make known their selections this week. The committee is composed of Cortlandt Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club; Augustus Post, secretary, and Samuel H. Valentine. J. McCoy, who is almost certain to be one of the three defenders, is the first aeronaut to make a formal entry for the Lahm cup. It is possible Dr. Julien P. Thomas, who is eager for the honor, may be one of the defenders.

While the start in the international race for the Bennett cup, under the rules, must be made from St. Louis, it is not so with the Lahm contest, nor will it be so with the proposed contest of aeroplanes. Oct. 19 is the date set for the international race. The Lahm contants may start from anywhere in the United States or at any time after March 1. They have only to supply proof of the time and place of starting and the landing, wherever it may be.

In other words, the Lahm race is a go-when-and-where-you-please affair, the only restriction being that the start must not be made before March 1. The contest is for distance. Entrants need give only one hour's notice of their intended departure to the Aero Club. There is nothing in the rules to prevent the entrants in the Bennett contest from being entrants also for the Lahm cup, and it is likely that all the balloonists will qualify for both cups.

It is probably that less elastic conditions will be laid down for the aeroplane contests, for which a man of great wealth has offered a magnificent prize. This may take place at St. Louis.

Rules and Conditions of Race.

The Bennett cup race is under the auspices of the International Aeronautic Federation, composed of the aero clubs of America, France, England, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Spain. Each club is permitted to enter three aerostats—either drifting or dirigible balloons. The contest will be for distance, but this may be changed into one for duration, subject to the atmospheric conditions.

The pilots nominated and their substitutes must belong to the nationality of the club of the International Aeronautic Federation which nominates them, or to a country not represented in the International Aeronautic Federation. All the aerostats shall be filled with gas of the same manufacture; but motor or dirigible balloons may be filled with pure hydrogen.

A club may not become the possessor of the cup until it has been victorious in three contests. Otherwise it shall be merely the holder, subject to the rules. The cup itself is valued at $250. Besides there is a cash prize of $250 given by Mr. Bennett to the winner for each of the first three years. The race at St. Louis will be the second year's contest. The entrance fee is $100.

The sum thus realized shall be divided among the contestants as follows: One-half to the first, one-third to the second and the rest to the third.

In the race next October there will be four additional prizes given in St. Louis as follows: To the balloon finishing second, $1000, to the third $750, awarded by the United Railways Co. of St. Louis; to the fourth $500, from B. Nugent & Bros.; to the fifth $200, from the German-American press.

NEUDECKER FREED BY WOMAN'S WORD

Witness of Duel Declares It Due to Stare Resented by Her Escort.

A woman's testimony that a duel in which Louis Kozlowski, 1948 Cass avenue, a young Polish politician, was killed by a "stray" bullet, was provoked by a stare and remark which her escort resented, was the most important factor in the acquittal of John Neudecker on a charge of assault to kill.

The woman was Mrs. Jessie White of 1618 North Eighteenth street. Neudecker, who conducts a saloon at 1504 Cass avenue, and Felix Brandt of 2121 Cass avenue, were the principals in the duel, which was fought at 2 a. m., at Twelfth street and Cass avenue, Oct. 15 last. The case was tried in Judge Williams' court Wednesday and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty late Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. White, who admitted she had been separated two years from her husband, told how a friend introduced her to Neudecker and William Devaney of 1446 North Seventeenth street at the North End Democratic Club.

As they were on their way home, at Tenth street and Cass avenue, they passed Brandt, Kozlowski and William Otto of 1540 North Fifteenth street. Mrs. White testified that as he brushed by her Brandt peered into her face and made a sneering remark.

Resented Stare and Remark.

"My escort asked Brandt what he meant by the remark, and Brandt retorted offensively. He started towards Neudecker, who hit him over the head with a revolver. Then I ran and the shooting followed," said Mrs. White.

Brandt testified that when he passed Neudecker and Mrs. White, Devaney and Miss Cross, the two couples, had their arms around each others' waists and were loitering.

"I merely glanced at Mrs. White as I passed," said Brandt, "and it angered Neudecker. 'Have a good look,' he said, and called me a name. I turned away from him and an instant later he jumped on my back and beat me over the head with his revolver. As I rose, we both began to shoot at close range, one striking Kozlowski, who took no part in the fight. He died the next day in the City Hospital."

Neudecker, in his own behalf, declared that Brandt's act precipitated the fight. It has not been satisfactorily determined whose bullet killed Kozlowski.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch has over ONE-HALF MILLION more readers than any other newspaper west of the Mississippi.

ST. LAZARE PRISON TO BE TORN DOWN

Famous Paris Hospital Held Noted Prisoners During Reign of Terror.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—The famous prison of St. Lazare, one of the great historic landmarks of Paris, is about to be pulled down, and, what for some years has been a moral and physical plague spot, will give way to fine, open squares and commodious dwellings. Romantic and tragic memories cling about the old structure.

St. Lazare, as its name indicates, was at first a lepers' hospital, built at the end of the Eleventh Century on the site of a basilica dedicated to St. Laurent. It sprang rapidly into fame, for kings used frequently to visit it in token of humility and faith. In 1632, leprosy having practically disappeared in France, the hospital was given over to St. Vincent de Paul, who established there a number of priests of his mission, known as the congregation of St. Lazare.

St. Vincent, himself, died at St. Lazare, and his cell is still shown to visitors with the stones worn hollow by the knees of the saint. St. Vincent's successor neglected the work commenced by him, and the house was turned into a sort of reformatory for insubordinate priests and unruly sprigs of nobility, for whom their parents had procured "letteres de caichet."

The Lazarists having stored big quantities of provisions in view of a possible famine, the mob of Paris sacked the establishment July 13, 1789, the eve of the storming of the Bastile and released 40 prisoners.

During the terror many "ci-devants" were confined there before being tried by the revolutionary tribunal. It was from St. Lazare that Andre Chenier was led to the Guillotine. After the revolution the surrounding lands were sold and built upon, St. Lazare itself remaining a prison, but only women were confined there. Many celebrated female offenders have been lodged at St. Lazare while awaiting trial, among them the famous Mme. Humbert.

TWO BILLS WOULD END BUCKET SHOPS

Sager Draws Measure, Folk Supports Another, Providing Imprisonment.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—Drastic bills to prohibit the operation of bucket shops were introduced in the Senate today by Gardner of St. Louis County and Ely of Dunklin. Both are similar in their general provisions.

Each makes it a felony for "any person or persons in the control of or engaged in the operation or conduct as owner or lessee of any telegraph or telephone lines to transmit or permit to be transmitted over their lines any message or communication conveying any order or contract for the pretended purchase and sale or sale and purchase of any commodity."

It is also provided that "whoever as principal or as agent of any corporation or person or persons who shall set up and carry on a bucket shop, or any person who shall accept employment from any person or persons or corporations engaged in carrying on a bucket shop and shall under such employment in any manner or capacity assist in carrying on of a bucket shop, shall be guilty of a felony."

Bucket shop is then described as a place used for the purpose of dealing in fictitious sales of stocks, grains, cotton, provisions, etc. The penalty for violation is imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two or more than five years in the bill proposed by Senator Ely. Gardner's bill fixes a penalty of six months in jail. It was drawn by Circuit Attorney Sager of St. Louis. The Ely bill is supported by Gov. Folk.

HOME RULE BILLS OFFERED.

Methudy and Catlin Copy the New York Law.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 24.—Home-rule police bills were introduced in the Senate and House today by Senator Methudy and Representative Catlin. They are modeled after the New York law and provide for only one Police Commissioner, to be appointed by the Mayor. This Commissioner is to have all the powers now had by the Board of Police Commissioners, except that the Governor is also given power to remove members of the Police Department.

Representative Groff introduced a bill today requiring railroads to transport members of the Board of Railroad Commissioners. The bill also requires railroads to furnish the board an engine and observation car free whenever an inspection is deemed necessary.

In Fairly Active Forenoon Session Traction Securities Show Weakness on Sales— Miscellaneous List Stocks Are Stronger and Several Have Substantial Advances and Close Steady.

At the Thursday morning session of the Stock Exchange there was a return to nearly the normal stage of activity in tractions that prevailed last week. Prices were inclined to be easier and in tractions the tendency resulted in one sale of preferred at 76¾, fractionally lower than the last sales. In the traction 4-per-cent bonds the bid and ask was slightly lower at 84¾ bid and 84⅞ asked.

Missouri-Lincoln Trust shares were firm and active on sale unchanged at 129¾. St. Louis Union Trust was firm and 38 asked to 39½ bid and 40 asked. Three shares sold at 395.

In the miscellaneous list the market was somewhat stronger. St. Louis Portland Cement advanced from 35 bid and 38 askd to 39½ bid and 40 asked, small lots being sold at 40, an advance of $2 per share over last sales. The sales of Chicago Railway Equipment were in fair volume, unchanged at 8.85. City 3:65 bonds sold at 99¼.

The close of the session was barely steady with sales of traction 4-per-cents at 84⅞ and to bid for preferred sock of traction 76½ bid and ask 76¾. Granite Bimetallic mine stock sold freely in 100- share lots at 30.

Second Session.

The afternoon session opened with further hammering of the traction issue, the preferred selling in 20 and 25 share lots at 76½. There was little trading in bank and trust stocks or the miscellaneous list. Par was asked for Laclede Gas common and preferred. The close was active and easier.

Archdeacon From Indiana.

After three clergymen have declined to accept the position, the Episcopal Missionary Board expects that Rev. William W. Walton of Indianapolis will accept the call to become archdeacon of the diocese of Missouri. The call was tendered him at a special meeting of the board at Schuyler Memorial House Wednesday. Rev. Mr. Walton is archdeacon of the Diocese of Indianapolis and was formerly archdeacon in Georgia.

WHEAT DECLINES AFTER FIRM START

Close Was at Low Point, With Fractional Loss After High Early Prices.

Corn Slightly Lower and Oats Slightly Higher—Cash Demand Fair.

Local wheat opened firm Thursday and after making a fractional gain in the early trading sold off near the last and closed ¼c to ½c lower for the day. Corn closed ⅛@¼c lower and oats unchanged to ¼c higher.

May wheat opened ⅛c higher, at 78c, advanced to 78¼@78¼c and declined to 77@77½c, the close. July wheat opened ⅛c higher at 72⅛c, went as high as 77¼c and declined to 76½@76⅝c, closing with offerings at the low point.

May corn opened unchanged at 44c, went as low as 43⅝c and closed at 43¾c asked. July corn opened ⅛c lower, at 44⅛c, went as high as 44⅛@44¼c and closed at 44⅛c sellers.

January oats was ¼c higher at 37c bid. May oats opened ⅛@¼c higher at 38c, went as low as 37⅞c and closed at 37⅞@38c asked. July oats was unchanged at 34⅞c sellers.

Liverpool spot wheat closed unchanged to ½d higher, and future wheat ¼@½d higher. Antwerp wheat closed ⅞@1¼c higher. Budapest wheat ⅛c higher and Berlin wheat ⅛c lower.

At the start local wheat was very firm. The sharply higher cables, caused by a scare about crop conditions here and abroad, caused a quite good demand in the pit at the opening. The weather is said to be very severe in Germany and Russia. There were additional reports of freezing temperatures from Odessa and press reports also note the severe weather in France. Unfavorable conditions are said to prevail in Argentine, the estimates on tomorrow's shipments being 800,000 bu, against actual shipments of 1,896,000 bu last week and 1,476,000 bu a year ago. The United States is also having severe weather, with little snow protection, which renders the crop susceptible to damage.

The light movement locally and in the Northwest also helped the buying power, as did a further decrease in Minneapolis stocks, and in the early trading a quite brisk commission house demand existed, with offerings light; prices, however, making a gain of only ⅛c. Trading throughout the early part of the session was very light.

In the late part of the session trading livened up sharply and towards the close was quite brisk. During the latter part of the trading there was heavy and aggressive selling in the pit and prices, after holding steady for a short time declined steadily. The tendency was steadily downward in the late market, and the close was at the low point, at a decline of ⅜@½c for the day.

The cash demand was good and offerings very light, but prices were slightly lower. The cash business locally was light. In Minneapolis cash demand was as strong as ever, with No. 1 Northern wheat 3c over May option and No. 2 ½c over. Cash prices at Chicago were firm. Wheat and flour clearances were 534,000 bu.

Corn was quiet. Cables came unchanged to ¼d higher for spot corn and closed ¼d higher for future corn. The colder weather over the belt, which helps the movement, had a somewhat depressing effect on prices and many of the traders, being of the opinion that corn has gone high enough, were liquidating. The trading was light and the close ⅛@¼c lower for the day. Argentine corn export estimates are 400,000 bu, against actual shipments of 640,000 bu last week and 171,000 bu a year ago.

The cash demand for corn was fair, but prices were slightly lower. Offerings were light. Clearance of corn for the day were 379,000 bu.

Oats were comparatively neglected. Trading was light and features scarce. Prices started out firm, and advanced slightly on the early strength in wheat and the small gain was maintained to the end, the close being unchanged to ¼c higher. Cash oats prices were firm, with a good demand an slight offerings. Oats clearances were 7000 bu.

Thornton of Duluth writes: "The situation insofar as the movement northwest is concerned is very acute. I am thoroughly well satisfied now that there is no relief possible that will permit of moving the 1906 crop during the current crop year. This refers not only to wheat, but to flax, barley and oats. In other words when the railroads of the Northwest do get into position to move the stuff they will be so swamped with general traffic that grain will have to take its proportion of cars moving and at no time during the ensuing five or six months can the movement reach large proportions."

The Cincinnati Price Current says: "The cold weather awakens little apprehension concerning growing wheat. High waters not disturbing general situation. Interior offerings light under bad roads and holding sentiment among farmers. Some damage to corn by warm wet weather. Packing 625,000, against 680,000 last year.

Minneapolis stocks decrease 100,000 bu for five days. Minneapolis cars were 157, against 251 last year, and Duluth, 8, against 83 last year, making a totl of 834 lst yr.

Primary movement: Receipts—Wheat, 414,428 bu, against 533,168 bu last year; corn, 449,295 bu, against 473,160 bu last year; oats, 308,687 bu, against 414,098 bu last year. Shipments—Wheat, 171,316 bu, against 182,000 bu last year; corn, 295,629 bu, against 425,000 bu last year; oats, 300,130 bu, against 560,000 bu last year.

St Louis receipts and shipments: Receipts—Wheat, 36,000 bu; corn, 181,500 bu; oats, 112,000 bu. Shipments—Wheat, 18,125 bu; corn, 88,940 bu; oats, 51,425 bu.

FLOUR—Receipts, 7230 barrels and shipments 10,760 barrels. Quote soft winter flour: patents at $3.60@3.75; straight at $3.25@3.40 and extra fancy at $3.10@3.20 in wood; low to medium grades at $2.25@2.50 in jute; hard in jute sacks, patents at $3.30@3.50; straight at $2.90@3.10; clear at $2.50@2.75; low grades at $2.25@2.40; spring patents at $3.80@3.95 in bulk. Foregoing for lots from first hands, track or depot. Special known brands on orders higher.

HAY—Receipts, 660 tons local and 80 tons through; shipments, 505 tons. Quote timothy hay, choice, $19; No. 1, $17.50@18; No. 2, $15.50@16.50; No. 3, $13@14.50. Clover hay, choice, $18@19; No. 1, $17; No. 2, $14@16; No. 1 clover mixed, $16@16.50; No. 2 clover mixed, $14@15. Prairie hay, choice, $12.50@13; No. 1, $11.50@12; No. 2, $10.50@11.

BOY ROBBERS ARE HELD.

Maplewood Lads Confess to Breaking Into Station.

Four youths, the oldest 16, were arraigned Thursday before Justice of the Peace Helmring of Maplewood on a charge of robbing the Maplewood station a week ago of $47 and 12 commutation tickets to St. Louis. They were Harry Stahbert of St. Louis and Leonard Fox, Charles Griser and Joseph Griser of Greenwood, St. Louis County. The Griser boys are 15 and 13 years old, and Fox is 15. Stahbert is 16.

Stahbert and Fox, who, according to their own testimony, were the leaders in the burglary, waived preliminary hearing and were put under $1000 bonds to the Grand Jury. They then testified against Charles Griser, who, they said, knew their plans and asked them to give him one of the tickets. He was also held under $1000 bond. The testimony showed that Joseph Griser had nothing to do with the robbery, and he was discharged.

Saved Factory With Buckets.

Employes at the Syracuse Wall Paper Co.'s plant, 921 North Broadway, formed a bucket brigade when fire broke out just after noon Thursday in the basement, and extinguished it before a fire engine arrived. An overheated furnace ignited joists in the basement, and smoke quickly filled the place. Women employed there fled into the street, but the men organized a bucket line and passed water into the basement so fast that the flames were put out before the damage amounted to much.

NEW YORK STOCK CLOSE IS LOW

Western Rail and Industrial Issues Again Becoming Market Features—Erie and Rock Island Stocks Are Regaining Ground Lost on Account of Recent Liquidation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—In very active trading over both lists the market closed steady and ⅛ to 1 point under the opening of Thursday and the close of Wednesday.

The notable exceptions to the low close are Amalgamated and Anaconda Copper and Great Northern and Northern Pacific.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The fractionally higher opening of the market Thursday, with a preservation of the regularity that has been the feature of the market on most of the days of the week is taken as an indication that the liquidation that has caused the irregularity during the last two months is about over and that the market is now on its way to higher permanent levels.

The Western railroads, and many of the Western industrials are becoming features of the market. Erie is slowly re-establishing itself around 40. The excellent physical condition of the property and the fact that the road is prepared to meet the competition of the Michigan Central differential passenger rate of $19 between Chicago and New York, with the fact that the market has discounted the $12,000,000 recent addition to capital, all are favorable signs for better prices for Erie.

Rock Island is also coming up again, probably the result of the published official statement that the physical condition of the system is excellent, its equipment supply better than it was six weeks ago and every indication that a capacity business is assured far into the summer.

The Wabash, Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas & Texas all report continued large volume of traffic and their stocks are participating in the general advance that has been in progress several days.

Just before noon there was a perceptible halt in the activity of the market and prices hardened a little around levels still fractionally above the day's opening.

HELD FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Negro Charged With Spending Collections for Liquor.

James Demerly, colored, is in the Belleville Jail under a $500 bond awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of embezzlement because he is said to have visited saloons too frequently. Demerly was employed by a storage and drayage company of East St. Louis. He drove a wagon load of furniture to Belleville and collected $21 charges. Instead of returning he took his horses to a livery barn and made a systematic visit to nearby saloons.

His failure to return to East St. Louis caused his employers to notify the Belleville police. Officer Yerk arrested the man in a saloon at C and Richland streets. He was taken before Justice Wangelin and waived his preliminary hearing.

Some exceptionally good paper was reported sold at 5¼ per cent in this market today, and the indications point to a further heavy movement of commercial bills to interior institutions. A fair demand from St. Louis banks was said to exist for local paper. The six-months' market is now 5¾ to 6 per cent, with some greater activity than was noted previously. Floods throughout the East and in some portions of the South are interfering with collections.

LOST FORTUNES BECAUSE FATHER WEDDED ACTRESS

SISTER'S HOME SECRET

Cousins of Melba's Daughter-in-Law Encouraged by Otway Marriage.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Deprived, they say, of their rightful heritage of name, estate and social rank as members of one of England's most famous families because their father married an actress, a Brooklyn family, first cousins, they allege, of Mme. Melba's daughter-in-law, appealed today for aid in finding their sister, Flora, and to learn whether or not their parents are dead, and if so, where they are buried.

The uncovering of the family skeleton comes after 40 years of ceaseless effort to blot from human records the existence not only of Loftus William Henry Hughes, alleged to be the rightful heir to the immense Otway fortune in England, but that of his children as well.

Burke's Peerage says that Hughes died Aug. 14, 1883, but proof of his alleged death and of the place of his supposed burial has never been disclosed. Mrs. Lischer, his daughter, believes that the story of his death is a myth and that he is a prisoner in a private sanitarium in England, unable to fight for his heritage.

To avert the possibility of his children ever asserting their alleged rights, three of them, it is charged, were sent to this country years ago on cattle steamers as immigrants. The fourth is somewhere in England, but the secret of her whereabouts is carefully guarded, it is alleged, by a lawyer, Vivian Ellis of 5 Delahy street, London, one of the executors of the Otway estate. This lawyer has refused to tell, the New York children say, what has become of their father.

The children of the disinherited man have been encouraged to renew their search by the fact that Col. Jocelyn has permitted his daughter, Ruby Otway, to marry the son of Mme. Melba, when their father was cast out of the family because he wedded an actress.

Cut Out After Wedding.

Lady Loftus Otway was married in 1837 to William John Marjoribanks Hughes, Captain of the Fourth Light Dragoons. The first son born was Loftus William Henry. There were four other sons, besides two daughters. The only living son, if Loftus Hughes is dead, is Jocelyn Tufton Otway.

In spite of great family opposition Loftus William Henry Hughes, the eldest son, married Charlotte Webster Brown, an actress, in the parish church of St. James, county of Southampton, in 1866. Two months after the wedding Dame Frances Otway, his grandmother, cut him out of her will with the exception of a provision of $25,000 to be paid to him at the death of his mother. This money, it is said, was never paid to him or his heirs. Lady Loftus Otway made her will in 1883. It provided that no son or grandchildren would ever receive a cent if they married a woman who had been on the stage. Practically the entire fortune, including the famous Otway jewels, under this will, went to the surviving son, Jocelyn.

"When I was 19 my brother and I were sent by our guardian to a farm in Kent, where we worked in the field as farmhands," said Frank P. Hughes. "After six months of farm life, Mrs. Annie Newman, housekeeper for Lady Loftus Otway, took us to London, where she introduced us to Vivian Ellis, the lawyer, as the sons of Loftus Hughes. The lawyer said that we were going to America, and advised us to lead useful lives. He gave us each a suit of clothes, our passage and $100, and said that from that time on we would have to shift for ourselves. I asked him where our father was, and he said he had been buried in the outskirts of London.

"The day we arrived in St. Johns, N. B., I fell from a train and had to have my foot amputated. While in the hospital Rev. Dr. Raymond wrote to Lawyer Ellis, asking that he assist me. The lawyer wrote back that our relations with England had been severed, and that while he was sorry, he could do nothing for me."

Borne Out by Peerage.

Many of the letters received from the lawyer, Ellis, by Mr. Hughes and his sister, tell the cruel story of how the offense of the father has been visited on the children. In one letter, he says: "The address of the younger daughter I am not at liberty to give. She knows little of her early history. Mr. Loftus made a marriage which caused his parents to disinherit him. His mother, unknown to her husband, however, gave him assistance during life. At her death her husband only gave sufficient money for the two sons to get instruction in farming to fit them for immigration and to pay the expenses of immigration, this being the utmost he would do for them.

"That Mr. Hughes' children were not informed of their parentage was no doubt owing to Mrs. Otway thinking it was to their interest that they should not be aware of it, and it would, I think, have been much better had they remained in ignorance, as the knowledge may unsettle them and can do them no good."

The facts set forth by Mrs. Lischer and her brothers concerning the Otway family and their father, Loftus William Henry Hughes, are fully borne out by Burke's Peerage previous to 1900. During the last six years the disinherited son's name has been left out of the family record.

Burns Anniversary.

The Annual Burns Anniversary Concert under the auspices of the Scottish Clans will be given at Shriners' Hall, at the Odeon, on the evening of Friday, Jan. 25. An excellent program of selections from the songs of Burns and contemporaneous writers will be rendered. Piper Alec Robertson will give the selection on the bagpipes which will open the proceedings. Those taking part are Mrs. Irene Critchfield-Dobyn, soprano; Miss Nadine K. Dudley, alto; Mr. J. D. Grant, tenor, and Mr. R. Paterson Strine, bass; Mr. Jacob Bauer, saxophone soloist. Prof. Charles Seymour's orchestra will render incidental music and also play for the dance which follows. Among the songs to be sung are "Scots Wha Hae," "O a' the Airts the Win' Can Blow," "Doon the Burn, Davie, Lad," "Jessie's Dream," "'Twas Within a Mile o' Edinboro Toon," "My Love is Like a Red, Red Rose," duet, "The Crookit Bawbee," and "Bonnie Sweet Bessie, the Maid o' Dundee." The last selection, previous to "Auld Lang Syne" will be Caroline Nairn's exquisite gem, "Will Ye No Come Back Again," by the Scottish Clan's Sextette. Tickets of admission can be secured at entrance to the hall.

DOCTOR'S COAT IS STOLEN.

Webster Park Physician Suffers by Stranger's Theft.

Dr. Frederick Chase of Mason avenue, Webster Park, and Marshal Nace of Webster Groves are diligently looking for a man wearing a shabby suit and an excellent overcoat. Marshal Nace wants the man and Dr. Chase wants the overcoat.

A few days ago a man wearing a dilapidated suit was seen near the doctor's house. On the same day, when the doctor started out for a call his best winter overcoat was missing. The circumstance recalled to Dr. Chase a somewhat similar one eight years ago, when two negroes entered his house and stole clothing and jewelry. They were captured by Marshal Nace and are now serving out a 15-year sentence.

KENTUCKY JAIL GUARDED

Attempt to Lynch Woman's Alleged Slayer Feared.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SERGENT, Ky., Jan. 24.—Hiram Ingram, 31 years old, was arrested in Knott County yesterday, charged with assaulting and murdering Mrs. Sallie Amburgy five days ago. It is alleged that Ingram choked the woman to death. A guard of 100 men was placed around the jail last night, as it was feared that an attempt might be made to lynch him.

SHE REJECTED BUCHANAN.

Woman Courted by Lincoln's Predecessor Dies.

Miss Mary Ann Casey, who often told how she once declined a proposal of marriage from James Buchanan, afterwards President of the United States and a lifelong bachelor, died at the age of 97 at the home of her cousin, Mrs. T. C. Blackwell, 4936 Washington avenue.

Miss Casey was the daughter of Samuel Casey of Caseyville, Ky., who was Assistant Secretary of the Treasury at Washington during three administrations. She rejected Buchanan's suit on account of an attachment for a cousin, which her father opposed. She had resided in St. Louis for the past 12 years. The body will be sent to her former Kentucky home, where the funeral will be held Saturday.

So Particular About Fitting, Some People Call It Crankiness But We're Glad Our Salesmen Use Good Judgment Fitting Children's Shoes

PARENTS, think of the possible long years of service that your little folks' feet must give! With this in view, you should be exceedingly careful that no harm comes to those feet through the wearing of ill-fitting shoes. Put a "Brandt's" shoe on your child's foot and take no chances. A "Brandt's" shoe will fit exactly—heel, instep, toes and around the ankle. Most important of all, it will be a last that cannot in any way interfere with the proper growth of the foot. You couldn't ask for more, could you? So visit our "Little Folks' Parlor." Our prices are winners. Read here about a few of them.
